

Today in the Quad-Cities Buses to Pontoon

Bus service to Pontoon Beach will be initiated by the Bi-State Transit System Monday, March 8, with 24 daily bus trips to the Gaslight Shopping Center.

The buses will operate between 6:45 a.m. and 6:45 p.m. daily. No Sunday service is planned.

Bi-State is arranging a ribbon-cutting ceremony for Friday to bring public attention to Monday's start of service.

Pontoon Beach Village Board President Floyd David Moss has been asked to cut a ribbon which will be set up at the Gaslight Shopping Center at 11 a.m. Friday.

Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler, Bi-State officials and others have been invited to attend the ribbon-cutting. The public also is welcome, a Bi-State spokesman said.

Church burglarized twice in one week

The Rev. Roy Baugh, pastor of Niedringhaus United Methodist Church, 20th Street and Delmar Avenue, reported at 11:20 a.m. Saturday the second break-in at the church in the past week.

Entry into the building was gained by prying the exterior double doors. The pastor's study door was forced open and $4 or $5 was taken from the office.

Weather outlook

Considerable cloudiness today with high in the low 70s. Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight about 50. High tomorrow in the low 70s with chance of showers. Cloudy and cooler Wednesday through Friday. Lows in the 30s and highs in the 50s. Chance of rain Wednesday and again on Friday.

United Way to stress priorities

Bylaw revisions approved at the annual reorganization meeting of the Tri-Cities Area United Way late Thursday afternoon include formation of a Priorities Committee whose goal will be to "place human care services and available dollars into perspective."

It will submit recommendations on services and programs to the Budget and Allocations Committee and the United Way board; strive to avoid duplication of effort; encourage inter-agency programming; and review all requests for additions, deletions or expansion of agency programs.

The Priorities Committee also will provide guidance on all United Way-government relations and will negotiate UW agreements with governmental agencies.

The bylaw changes also call for periodic conferences of agency executives. Such meetings will include the executive and president of each participating agency and the United Way executive, president and priorities chairman.

Business meetings of United Way members and directors took place in the YMCA auditorium Thursday.

Officers re-elected were Mitchell B. Milonaki, president, and William F. Winter, vice-president. Milonaki is works manager of the American Steel Foundries here and Winter is editor of the Press-Record.

New officers elected were John Blasingame, vice-president, succeeding Bill H. Terrell; Mrs. Margaret Lee, secretary, replacing Irvin C. Slate Jr.; and Donald Van Horn, treasurer, succeeding James W. Foley.

Blasingame is assistant to the service area manager of Illinois Power Co., Mrs. Lee is an executive of the First National Bank in Madison and Van Horn is executive vice-president of the American National Bank of Granite City.

Terrell, district manager of the Franklin Life Insurance Co., was announced as chairman of the next United Way campaign in October. He is president of the Granite City Rotary Club.

Milonaki said in a report to contributors that "the past year was another year that we can be thankful for. Your efforts and the response of our community enabled our United Way organization to exceed its 1975 goal."

"David Fox and his dedicated team are to be congratulated for their efforts. The campaign goal was $420,000; our final figure was $443,282."

"The Budget and Allocation Committee chaired by John Blasingame did an excellent job in visiting the agencies and evaluating their needs. The committee allocated $443,282, based on the needs of our community."

"The Planning Committee is actively proceeding with its work. The response to a community survey was inadequate, and further follow-up will be needed."

"A new agency questionnaire was developed by the SIUE team and distributed to United Way agencies. The agencies did a fine job in completing these forms and returning them for evaluation."

"We are moving in a slow but sure manner in the area of evaluations. Our aim is the elimination of duplicated services and the identification and proper funding of needed services."

Cite District 12

Letters will be mailed this week to nine Illinois school districts cited Thursday by the State Board of Education for non-compliance with the state's revised desegregation rules. The list includes Madison

Indictments include slaying, robberies

A Madison County grand jury in a rare two-day session Thursday and Friday returned indictments in a Granite City murder and four Quad-City area armed robberies. Although in closed session, it is believed the grand jury deliberated from 10:30 a.m. Thursday until about 7 p.m. on charges against Steve Strubberg, 19, who had been residing below the district's overall figure of 85.7 per cent black.

Two Madison schools are described as having 31 per cent or less, and two others are all-black.

A response by Madison school officials is being withheld pending receipt of state notification.

State School Superintendent Joseph M. Cronin said the nine letters will officially notify the districts they are in non-compliance with the rules and will give them 30 days to present plans for desegregating their schools.

Districts without plans 30 days after being notified will face probationary recognition.

Fire worry due to dry weather

A grass fire at the home of Carl Peters, 3001 Fehling Road, at 5:35 p.m. Friday, ignited shrubs near the house and spread to the roof overhang. Granite City firemen extinguished the blaze, remaining at the scene 20 minutes. A loss of $700 was reported.

The Granite City Fire Department responded to a total of 20 alarms Friday, several involving weed fires and two in which autos caught fire.

Due to the lack of precipitation, grass, weeds and shrubbery are in very dry condition and will easily ignite, a spokesman for the department said today.

Persons burning leaves and grass in alleys are cautioned to according to Dr. Cronin.

The districts cited are Argo Summit 104, Cahokia 187, Chicago 299, Chicago Heights 170, Hazelcrest 1524, Madison 12, Rockford 265, Springfield 186 and Waukegan 60. Some of the districts were cited as early as 1972 when the first rules and regulations were issued by the state education office, it was noted.

An additional 23 districts will be reviewed by the State Board at subsequent meetings to determine their conformance with the rules. Although plans have been submitted by these districts, revisions are needed to bring the districts into full compliance.

Fairs recalled

(18th of a Bicentennial year Press-Record series)

Since 1853, Illinoisans have been gathering in the heat of August at the State Fair, and they have been having a good time doing it.

Increasingly during those years, if someone made it, baked it, collected it, or played it, the State Fair judged it and awarded it a ribbon.

In February 1853, the State Agricultural Society was incorporated under provisions of an act of the General Assembly, and the first State Fair was conducted under its supervision.

Held on the northeast side of Springfield, the fair had as its major attractions new farm implements, livestock, and garden displays.

Prizes were offered for the best wine made from grapes, rhubarb or peaches; the best ox; yoke; the best churn; the best farm pump, and the best portable grist mill.

A total of 765 individuals submitted entries in the various exhibits, which paid $994 in premiums, while gross receipts were $4,751.

For the next 40 years, the State Fair led a nomadic existence, hosted by 12 different cities as far north as Freeport and Chicago and as far south as Alton and Olney.

It was always exciting. The sixth State Fair, for example, was held in Cairo in 1863, and was notable for the scheduling of Stephen A.

Jones-Boyer wedding at Emmanuel Baptist

Altar bouquets of white gladioli and pom poms, interspersed with greenery and trailing ivy, provided the setting at Emmanuel Baptist Church for the wedding of Miss Vicki Kay Boyer and Danny Lee Jones on Feb. 14.

Soloist Dwain Bridges sang "Sometimes," "Wedding Song" and "Wedding Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Marilyn Chrusciel.

The Rev. Arthur Short performed the double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Boyer, 2149 Bern Ave. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Jones, 4066 Central Lane.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the former Miss Boyer selected a long white gown of tulle and organza over tulle, lavishly appliqued with Chantilly lace motifs on the Empire bodice, high neckline and long sheer sleeves. A wide border of lace encircled the hem of the slightly full skirt and train.

She wore a lace Juliet cap embellished with pearls to hold in place a fingertip veil, edged with scalloped lace. Her cascade bouquet was made up of white miniature carnations, baby's breath and green gladioli.

Blue floral dresses designed with V-necklines and complemented with long sleeve jackets which tied in the front were worn by the attendants. Each girl held a Parisian style bouquet of blue carnations, baby's breath and white daisies.

Mrs. Mike Boyer, a sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids included Mrs. Ronnie Castillet and Misses Annett and Brenda Jones, sisters of the groom.

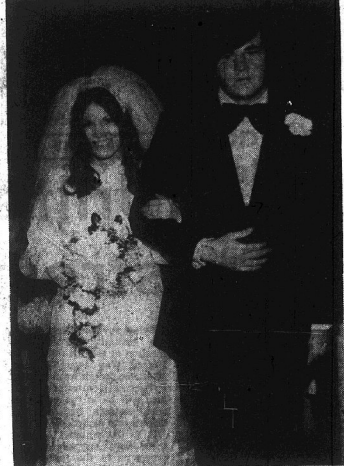

Dennis Hasty attended the groom as best man. Mike Boyer, a brother of the bride, David Cuvor and Mark Starling, a cousin of the groom, served as groomsmen.

Seating the guests were Marvin and Gary Boyer, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Boyer, mother of the bride, wore a long blue gown and the groom's mother, Mrs. Jones, was attired in an aqua colored dress. Both wore carnation corsages in colors to match their gowns.

The newweds are now residing in Granite City.

A reception was held at the Long Lake Firemen's Hall immediately following the ceremony.

MR. AND MRS. DANNY L. JONES leave Emmanuel Baptist Church following their wedding. The bride is the former Miss Vicki Kay Boyer, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Boyer, 2149 Bern Ave.

Retired Madison teacher is honored

Mrs. Margaret Ashbrook Green, a retired teacher of the Madison School District 12, was one of four women honored last week by the Southern Illinois District Association of Clubwomen as "Outstanding Women of the Year."

About 200 persons attended a reception and tea given at the First United Presbyterian Church in East St. Louis, where the award winners were honored.

The event was sponsored by the Scholarship Awards Committee, headed by Mrs. Rhea Hill.

Mrs. Green was cited for "outstanding civic contributions and club work." She was presented an engraved trophy.

A life-long resident of Madison, Mrs. Green taught first grade classes in the Madison School District for 37 years. Prior to retiring in 1971, she was a member of the faculties at Dunbar, Blair and Harris grade schools.

A resume of Mrs. Green's accomplishments was read to the audience by Mrs. Hilda James, president of the Madison Women's Progressive Club. The honoree has been an active member of the local club for 34 years.

Many gifts, letters of commendation and tokens of friendship were received by Mrs. Green.

Among those commending and congratulating her on the award were Madison Supt. of Schools John Falchett, Bernard Long, Dunbar principal and members of the faculty; and the Rev. Ellis B. Soles, pastor, and members of Bethel AME Church.

Gifts and personal mementos also were presented the honoree by the Madison club, tea committee and local and out-of-town friends.

Mrs. Green resides at 712 W. Washington St., Madison.

Communication Workers win Illinois Bell vote

Nearly 400 employees of Illinois Bell Telephone Co. will continue to be represented by the Communications Workers of America, Local 6600, AFL-CIO, as a result of a representation election Thursday at which CWA's bargaining rights were contested by two other labor organizations.

In the election conducted by the National Labor Relations Board, 282 employees of the company's plant, commercial and marketing departments in this area voted to maintain Local 6600 as their union; 82 voted for representation by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO; and eight voted for representation by an independent group called the Telephone Commercial Employees Union.

The employees have been represented by Local 6600 for 35 years. It is part of CWA District 6, headquartered in St. Louis. In another referendum, conducted simultaneously by the NLRB, Illinois members of CWA Local 6301, which represents telephone operators in this area as well as eastern Missouri, voted to stay in CWA District 6 rather than transfer to CWA District 5 (with headquarters in Chicago), which has jurisdiction over all other telephone operators in Illinois. The vote was 180 to 20.

Both votes were necessitated by jurisdictional matters between the Communications Workers of America, Local 6600, AFL-CIO, and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO.

Law enforcement group elects

The board of directors of the Southwestern Illinois Law Enforcement Commission, has elected the following officers to serve for a period of one year:

President, Edward D. Voumard Sr., vice chairman, Madison County Board; first vice-president, Victor P. Canty, chairman, St. Clair County Board; second vice-president, Mayor Delbert Hayer, mayor of the city of Sparta, Randolph County.

Treasurer, F. W. Dawkins, retired, Ashley, Washington County; secretary, Captain Emil J. Toffant, retired commander of District 11 Illinois State Police.

Election of officers is held at the regular monthly board meeting in February each year.

'Liberty Bell' at schools

Granite City high school students now have an opportunity to see what the "Liberty Bell" looks like. A replica of the famous symbol of American freedom will be at their school campuses for the next two weeks.

The three-eighths scale replica will be on display at Granite City High School South this week and at GCHS North next week.

Along with the opportunity to see the Bicentennial Liberty Bell, students will have a chance to enter the "Let Freedom Ring" essay contest. The competition is being sponsored by McDonald's (Collinsville Mac, Inc.) of this area. Prizes available in the local contest include a $500 U.S. savings bond for the first place essayist, $400 in U.S. savings bonds for second place, $300 in savings bonds for third, $200 in bonds for fourth and a $100 U.S. savings bond for fifth place.

The grand prize in the contest, the Bicentennial Liberty Bell, will be awarded to the city in which the first-place essayist resides — as a permanent U.S. Bicentennial display.

The contest runs through April 25 and is open to high school students in Granite City, Edwardsville, Alton, East Alton, Wood River, Roxana, Bethalto, Collinsville, O'Fallon and Belleville. The subject of the 500-word essay is "What the Liberty Bell Means to Me." Information and applications are available at the McDonald's Restaurants in the cities named.

Who should have a Trust?

Nearly everyone. The solid financial planning which a trust provides benefits you and your family both now and in the future.

A trust arrangement should be explored if you have:

- purchased life insurance;
- bought your own home;
- accumulated personal property;
- maintained a savings account; or
- invested in pension or profit sharing plans.

As you can see, just about everyone should consider a trust — more than likely, you should.

Young or old, you'll find that a trust brings security for your children, and assures that your financial interests are being managed carefully if you become physically unable to handle them yourself.

Sound easy? It is. Simply call First Granite City National Bank — experts you can trust.

Funeral services were held today. Details are given in the obituary column.

Y sponsors candy sale

The "Y" will sponsor a candy sale from today through March 15 to help youth members who would like to earn a membership, according to Harold Rudolph, executive director.

Youth members will be selling boxes of chocolate thin mints which will be marked with the "Y" emblem. A boy or girl will have to sell only 60 boxes to earn a year's membership.

"We have had a lot of children who want to be members of the 'Y', and they want a way to earn it. By giving them an opportunity to be a sales person, along with a little training before they check out a case of candy, the 'Y' hopes to serve several purposes," Rudolph said.

Youngsters from the swim team, Tri Hi "Y", junior high basketball team, along with boys and girls who take swimming lessons and enjoy the other programs and facilities of the "Y", have signed up to be sales persons. Every boy and girl will have a badge certifying they have signed up with the "Y".

Half of the proceeds of each box will go to the boy or girl who sells the candy. They can earn a full year's membership, a half year or a partial membership, or they can credit their earnings to attend the summer day camp program this year.

Railroad ties fall from truck, hit car

Eight or nine railroad ties broke loose from a loaded tractor-trailer truck and struck a passing auto, injuring a woman passenger, on McCambridge Avenue at Edwardsville Road at 1:25 p.m. Saturday.

Harry L. Modglin, Collinsville, driver of the truck, said the load apparently became loose when a chain holding the ties loosened after the vehicle rounded a curve.

An auto operated by Lamont K. Decker, also of Collinsville, was passing the northbound truck at the time of the mishap.

Pamela Peters, 25, of 414 Jeanette Drive, Arlington Heights, a passenger in the auto, sustained a fracture and cut to the right knee. She had no rays taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and was admitted.

2 boys arrested as glue sniffers

Two 15-year-old youths were taken into custody at 12:30 p.m. Friday in a wooded area located near the 3400 block of Princeton Drive, and charged with unlawful use of an intoxicating compound.

An officer reported observing the boys walking toward the woods where the previous day he had spoken with two juveniles carrying unopened tubes of glue.

Inside the woods, the officer allegedly found the 15-year-olds seated in a ditch with plastic bags covering their mouths and noses and inhaling the toxic glue. One youth had four tubes of glue in his possession at the time.

The other boys standing nearby watching were not taken into custody. The arrested youths were turned over to the juvenile officer and released to their parents at 5:30 p.m. Friday.

believed responsible for a number of the fires.

"We need rain badly," Rutherford said. "People need to be extra careful in burning trash right now. Things are just too dry to be careless."

Weather records at the Chain of Rocks locks recorded only .46 of an inch of rainfall during all of February, and an identical fall of .46 of an inch for all January. Rainfall during the month of December totaled only .39 of an inch.

The basis of these records, the Quad-City area has had only 1.85 inches of rain during the past three months. The total normal rainfall for this period is 5.99 inches.

committing a felony, murder and burglary.

Two juveniles, ages 15 and 16, allegedly broke into Mrs. Giffin's home with Strubberg, are scheduled for court hearings next week to determine whether they should stand trial as adults.

In Friday's grand jury session, Doris Tom Raynor Jr., 28, of the 2200 block of Delmar Ave., and Michael Knoch, 24, of the 3000 block of Kirkpatrick, Homes were named in four indictments against each alleging armed robbery.

The pair is charged with the Feb. 10 armed robbery of Slim's Confectionery, 2047 Rock Road, and the Feb. 11 armed robbery of the Ridgedale Confectionery, 2500 Nameki Road, Jerry's Tavern, 1334 Madison Ave., Madison, and the Clark Service Station, Highway 111 south of Route 162.

VACANT HOUSE FIRE

A vacant house at 154 N. 6th St., Venice, adjacent to the bus garage at Venice-Lincoln Technical School, was destroyed by fire at 6:13 a.m. Sunday. Venice firemen were called to the scene, but the flames already had gutted the dwelling when they arrived, a police officer said. Loss has not been determined.

Fairs

Douglas—who appeared with a little too much whiskey aboard—to give his speech—and for the ambience of Abraham Lincoln.

The newspapers extolled Centralia in August, reporting that "the moonlight is delightful, the pleasant walks are numerous, the shady grove skirting the ground is a charming spot, by day or by night, and whoever goes will come back amply repaid for the trip."

Perhaps the most exciting event occurred when a hot air balloon broke loose from its moorings with two children aboard, rose out of sight, and camp safely to rest miles from the fairgrounds the following day.

In 1872, the General Assembly created the State Board of Agriculture and gave it the task of promoting agriculture, manufactures and domestic arts as well as authority over the State Fair, which in that year was held in Ottawa.

Between 1889 and 1892, the State Fair resided in Peoria, boasting an attendance of 20,000 on opening day and gate receipts of $1,500 per day.

Exhibits appeared from Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio, Missouri and New York.

Because the World's Columbian Exposition was held in Chicago in 1893, there was no State Fair, but the year was one in which the question of a permanent location for the Fair was agitated.

The board accepted bids from Bloomington, Decatur, Peoria, Chicago, Aurora and Springfield.

Amid heavy political pressures, it awarded the Fair to the capital city in exchange for a 156-acre plot on its north side.

The construction of permanent buildings, including a large Exposition Building, began in 1893.

The Fair expanded in its new location, adding an amusement area called "Happy Hollow" in 1907, and a magnificent Dome Building purchased from the Chicago World's Fair but destroyed by fire in 1917.

Theodore Roosevelt appeared at the 1914 Fair, the highlight of which was a race between the Wright Brothers' bi-plane and an automobile driven by Wild Joe Burman.

In 1924, 210 acres of land were added, expanding the fairgrounds to its present 566 acres.

By 1927, the Fair sported a new covered grandstand, an administration building, an outdoor stage for featured entertainers, and a refurbished race track, among other improvements.

Beer was sold for the first time at the 1933 Fair. By 1937, attendance rose above one million patrons, the largest fair in the country.

Among the numerous and varied events were the National Swine Show, Championship Automobile Race, AKC Dog Show, Illinois State Gladiolus Show, State Croquet Tournament, State Motorcycle Races and High-School Band Contest.

The War was not held during World War II, as the Army used the location for an encampment.

Following the war, the Fair underwent a subtle transition in accordance with the increasing mechanization of agriculture and the continued shrinking of the rural population.

It increased the percentage of its exhibits on modern living, urban concerns and entertainment for the general public.

Recognizing reality as well as the fact that the Fair had become an independent entity, the General Assembly in 1965 created the Illinois State Fair Agency and directed it to promote improved methods of agriculture; to encourage increased yields and raising of improved breeds of livestock; to acquaint farmers with the latest implements and machinery; and to exhibit and promote the activities of industry, labor and education.

Top entertainers appeared nightly at the Grandstand; politicians considered their presence a must, especially on Democratic or Republican Day; and exhibits expanded and diversified.

Increasingly, the buildings were used year-round.

In the 1970s, the Fair suffered from management scandals, the deterioration of some of its facilities, and declining attendance.

But it still provided Illinois' major public event in August, and attracted the finest of agricultural products and equipment from throughout the state, as well as many other quality exhibits.

It continued to be one of the few occasions which brought the people of Illinois together, and as such it was a symbol of unity in diversity.

Its parking lots remain jammed with fleets of yellow school buses filled with noisy, perspiring children who have been driven hundreds of miles for a day at the Fair. And there is nothing quite like it.

District 12

conformance with the rules, it was related.

The State Board, in its first meeting since approving the revised requirements and procedures for the elimination and prevention of racial segregation in schools on Feb. 12, considered the school districts one by one, in alphabetical order.

Basing its judgments on reports submitted by the districts and on historical information on districts' desegregation activities, the board found each of the nine in non-compliance with the rules.

Supt. Cronin said, "It is our hope that within the next 30 days we will see tangible progress in these school districts toward the development of plans which reflect a true commitment to desegregation, which gives a specific timetable for accomplishing desegregation, and which offer the potential for equal educational opportunity for all children."

"Our office stands ready to provide whatever technical assistance these districts request," Dr. Cronin said. He added, however, that the state education office cannot develop plans for the districts.

"I am confident that the local district staffs have the abilities to better together their community resources to solve these problems. Recently, two of the districts cited in 1972—Rock Island and Joliet—have submitted plans to this office for approval."

The state desegregation rules call for each school within a district to reflect within 15 per cent, plus or minus, the racial composition of the school district as a whole. Thus, a school located in a district with 29 per cent minority enrollment should have between five and 38 per cent minority enrollment.

Faculty must also reflect the racial composition of the school district.

Of Illinois' 1,029 school districts, 84 have minority populations of sufficient size to require desegregation plans. Forty-four of these districts have such plans in effect. An additional six have plans on file to be implemented at the beginning of the next school year.

Adoption of the revised rules of Feb. 12 followed two months of study and involvement of parents, educators and school board members.

The State Board considered the various changes at three of its previous meetings, and discussion meetings for school personnel, school board members and citizens were held in Chicago and Champaign.

In addition, Dr. Cronin met with Lake County educators and Deputy Supt. Robert Lyons led a task force to a Rockford board of education public meeting. The rules, entitled "Rules Establishing Requirements and Procedures for the Elimination and Prevention of Racial Segregation in Schools," first were established by the former Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction in November 1971.

"The rules reflect federal and state laws along with court decisions," commented Dr. Cronin.

"Major changes are confined to terminology, a clarification of the various timetables for planning procedures, and the offering of a variety of alternatives regarding enforcement, as well as providing for a hearing procedure."

Once adopted by the board, the rules were filed with a secretary of state. They went into effect 10 days after that filing, according to Illinois law.

Pleads guilty to burglary

Benjamin Favier, 18, of 2141 Cleveland Blvd., is to be sentenced in Madison County Circuit Court March 26 for burglary.

Favier pleaded guilty to two burglaries in connection with the offices of Dr. Peter Leo and United Auto Workers Local 1715, which are across the hall from each other at 1838 Delmar Ave., in November.

Ainad Brass Band elects Walters

Gerald Walters, 2568 State St., has been elected and installed as president of Ainad Temple's Big Red Brass Band.

Ainad Temple's Brass Band is made up of 50 musicians from southern Illinois, many of whom are from the Quad-Cities area.

The Brass Band is one of the four Big Red units of Ainad Temple and one of the 37 units which make up the uniformed units of Ainad.

The band marches and plays in many parades for the sole purpose of promoting the world's greatest philanthropy, that of Shriners' hospitals for crippled children, where a child may be treated for orthopedic problems or burns, free of charge.

Others from the Quad-Cities area elected or appointed by the Ainad Temple Brass Band include, Bob Bauer of Venice, secretary; Lynn B. Kinney and Bill Ledbetter of Granite City, on the executive board and Martin Love of Granite City, chief.

Ainad's Brass Band will be seen in Granite City on June 3 for the Shrine Circus parade and on July 3 for the Bicentennial parade.

Public works, housing needed—contractors

A call for political activism by contractors was made by the national senior vice president of the Associated General Contractors of America in a talk at the annual dinner meeting of the Southern Illinois Builders Association during the weekend in Belleville.

Ben M. Hogan, AGC senior vice president and president of Ben M. Hogan Co., Inc., Little Rock, Ark., said that Presidential veto of a common situs picketing bill was due to the efforts of an organized group of contractors and businessmen, of which AGC was a leader.

AGC is the largest single construction general contractor organization in the United States, with more than 8,900 member firms.

SIBA, with 500 members and offices in Belleville and Marion, is the AGC chapter for 37 counties in Southern Illinois.

Hogan told the SIBA members, "We were able to convince the people running the President's campaign that if the veto were not forthcoming, it would be difficult to get campaign funding from the construction industry."

Hogan said that President Ford did not go back on his word in vetoing the bill. "He said he would sign the bill if it were accompanied by meaningful legislation."

"The bill as it was passed was a farce and the President did not go back on his word."

According to Hogan, the AGC is "in the process of investigating the reasons that only $1.5 billion of $18 billion in federal funds earmarked for public works projects in 1972 has been spent to date."

He attributed the problem largely to a "bureaucratic mess" which he says has tied up funds.

Political involvement on the part of contractors is necessary, he commented, if the demand for construction is to be met.

"Planners tell us that by the year 2000 we will have to build as many cities as we have built in this century to date."

"The construction industry is a 'sick child,' but it is becoming stronger and I am proud to say that AGC is playing a major role," Hogan concluded.

Price voting record praised

The voting record of Rep. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) has been rated 100 per cent by two national organizations, the National Council of Senior Citizens and the American Association of University Women.

The rating was for Cong. Price's actions on legislation voted on during the first session of the 94th Congress.

The National Council of Senior Citizens rated Rep. Price as one of five Illinois legislators to receive a perfect voting record on ten key issues of interest to those over 65.

Cong. Price voted to authorize funding for Older Americans Act programs and various community service employment programs, and to provide a bonus payment to Social Security recipients as part of the Tax Reduction Act.

He also voted to establish an independent Agency for Consumer Protection and increase funds for private home mortgages and public housing construction.

Rep. Price voted against measures which he said would have disqualified many senior citizens from receiving food stamps and would have allowed financial institutions to refuse mortgages and loans to homeowners in economically depressed areas.

The American Association of University Women advised Rep. Price of its total support for his record.

The association rated members of Congress on such varied legislation as the Surface Mining Control Act, appropriations veto overrides and public broadcasting financing, all of which Cong. Price supported.

Fire at truck firm causes $3,000 damage

Fire caused by an intruder who punched a hole in a truck's gasoline tank and set it on fire, resulted in $3,000 damage to the Hugu Major Truck Sales building, 510 North Highway 200, north of Interstate 70, at 8:45 p.m. Wednesday.

An employee was checking the building and saw a man inside. The man fired six bullets through the building's walls, but not at the employee. He then started the fire and fled.

Chuck Folmar, an employee, used fire extinguishers to control the blaze until the Madison Fire Department arrived and extinguished it.

The fire destroyed one doorway, went through the roof and destroyed an old wrecker truck inside.

Income adjustments can reduce tax bite

By FRANK R. RICE

President, Southern Chapter, Illinois CPA Society

Second in a series of articles on 1975 income taxes: One way to hold down income taxes is to claim all the "adjustments to income" to which you are entitled.

What is the difference between an adjustment and a deduction? Very little, except that adjustments are applied to gross income to arrive at adjusted gross income, and thus are taken even if you use the standard deduction. The principal adjustments to income are:

—Sick pay.

—Moving expenses. —Certain employee business expenses.

—Job-related education expenses under some circumstances.

—Depreciation of property used in business.

—Contributions to tax deferred retirement plans.

Whether and to what extent the pay you received while out sick or injured can be excluded from income depends on a number of factors, including the existence of an established, employer-financed sick-pay plan; the length of time you were absent; and whether you were hospitalized for part of the absence.

In any case, the most that is tax exempt is $100 a week.

The rules covering sick pay are too extensive for full explanation here; if you are affected you'll want to research the subject further or have it done for you. Use Internal Revenue Service form 2440.

Any workmen's compensation you may have received is fully exempt from tax, as are damages for injuries or illness, insurance benefits for health insurance on which you paid the premiums, or disability benefits for loss of income under a no-fault auto insurance policy.

If you have moved to a new home in order to work for a new employer or because you were transferred, your moving expenses may be deductible as "adjustments."

You qualify only if staying in your old home would have meant traveling at least an additional 50 miles to get to work.

Also, you must work full time at the new workplace for at least 39 weeks during the first year after the move. Use IRS form 3903.

Assuming you meet all the requirements, what moving expenses are deductible?

—Travel expenses, for you and your family.

—Moving of household goods.

—Househunting trips prior to the move.

—Meals and lodging for up to 30 days while in temporary quarters at the new location.

—Certain costs of selling your old home or settling the lease, buying a new home, or acquiring a new lease.

In claiming the moving expense adjustment, you must supply a statement from your employer of any reimbursement he may have made in connection with the move. Ask him to fill out IRS form 4782.

Employees' business expenses that should be listed as adjustments, rather than miscellaneous deductions, have to do chiefly with travel and entertainment expenses, specifically: travel out of town on overnight trips; transportation for business not involving overnight stays; and the expenses of "outside salesmen," who work out of quarters other than those of their employer.

These employee travel, gift and entertainment expenses taken as adjustments should be itemized on IRS form 2106.

The form 2106 also provides for listing of employee business expenses which do not qualify as adjustments to gross income, but those which can be taken as miscellaneous deductions.

Internal Revenue is getting tougher in its requirements for documentation of travel and entertainment costs, so dig out any records you can find to support your claims.

A diary is helpful, but only if the entries were made at or near the time of the expenditure. Receipts and canceled checks are better.

Not only must you be able to show that an expenditure was made, but also that it was for a deductible business purpose.

Job-related educational expenses are deductible as adjustments to income if the study was paid for the employer and included in gross income.

To be deductible, the educational course must be undertaken in order to meet the requirements of the job — to maintain or improve skills used now.

If the study prepares you for a promotion — or a job in another line — no deduction can be claimed.

The cost of replacing worn-out or obsolete equipment used in business is a deductible expense, which is taken in the form of depreciation, pro-rated over the life of the asset.

If an automobile used solely for business can be expected to wear out in five years, one fifth of its purchase price can be claimed each year as an adjustment to income.

If the car is used only half the time for business, cut the depreciation in half; take ten per cent a year for five years.

The same rules apply to other property, including your home, if part of it is used for business purposes only, although it is treated as an adjustment only if you are self-employed; employees list it as an itemized expense.

The definition of a deductible office-in-the-home has been narrowed sharply and is expected to become even more stringent in 1976.

The next article will discuss other types of income tax deductions that could save tax dollars.

ENERGY CONSERVATION

An alternate source of power is demonstrated by Steve Conkovich of Amvet Post 51 with the wind-driven washing machine he devised in 1945 enroute home from the Philippines. Created from an oil drum, water pipe, orange crate wood for the propeller, at right, and a pineapple can for the plunger. Crew members laughed at first, but later paid 10 cents (enlisted men) and 25 cents (officers) per wash. When the ship was underway, the wind did the rest, the inventor said.

Consumer tips on applying for credit

By DR. ROWENA LUTZ

Consumer Information Director, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville

When a person applies for credit his very first time, he is on the way to maintaining a financial tool that can serve him well over the years.

The lending agency—whether the bank, a loan company, a department store or other source—will request certain information.

The person will have to divulge certain data about himself, such as size of family, source of income, amount of income, and an assessment of outstanding debts he may have.

After securing the above information, and other items, the lending agency will determine if the applicant is a good "credit risk."

If not, he is turned down for credit at that time.

Some credit counselors believe it is best to tell the person credit is deferred a few months until other obligations are out of the way. Others will make the loan—or finance a purchase—knowing the specific purchase will be a burden to repay.

If a consumer would listen to and follow the advice of a creditor at this point, he might save many hours of anguish in the future when payments are harder to make and the joy of buying the item is gone.

An individual should be willing to "shop" for credit. He needs to look for the cost of credit; the length of time the credit is needed; and the various interest rates and repayment plans available.

Then, and only then, should he sign on that dotted line.

Illinois adds to luster as leading farm state

Illinois farmers re-wrote the record book during the past year, leaving little doubt that they're "number one."

Illinois Agriculture director Pud Williams said his department now has final figures for 1975 which show this state as tops in several categories.

"We led the nation in production of corn with a record crop of more than 12 billion bushels and we set a record in crop yield as we did it," the director said.

"Illinois farmers got 116 bushels to the acre on the average — six bushels more than ever before."

In soybeans, we did the same thing, leading the nation with production of just under 300 million bushels and a record yield of 35 bushels to the acre.

"The U. S. Department of Agriculture shows us ranking first in the export of all commodities taken together and, of course, in soybeans and soybean products."

"What that means to the U. S.

economy as a whole might be indicated by the fact that — combined with the production of our sister state, Iowa — we provide a full third of the total exports of feed grains and products. The same is true for soybeans and soybean products.

All Illinois agricultural exports brought back a total of more than $1.67 billion to our state's economy. Multiplied by the six times economists say the agri-dollar circulates in Illinois, and we're talking about a $10 billion impact.

"Illinois farmers should be proud of their accomplishments. Our state's economy is in good shape compared with many other areas of the U. S. And people involved in agriculture have had a lot to do with that."

Madison defeats state champion Venice for regional cage title

Madison High School took out four years of Class A regional tournament frustration Friday night, eliminating defending state champion Venice 76-63 for the Freeburg regional title.

The thriller kept the sellout crowd glued to its seats until the waning seconds of play.

Coach Richard Essington's Venice Red Devils, attempting to send the Trojans home packing for a third straight time in a regional, championship game, took an 18-14 first quarter lead.

But Coach Larry Graham's Trojans, paced by nine points from Rodney Davis, scored 14 points to Venice's 10 in the second quarter for a 28-23 halftime tie. Madison hit nine of 16 from the field to lead 49-44 at the end of the third period.

James Turner scored immediately to start the first quarter after Venice controlled the tipoff.

For the first time in the second half, after being held outside shooting by Madison's defense, Venice worked the ball inside to Larrick Arnold for an under-the-basket shot that narrowed the gap to one point, 49-48.

The Red Devils' renewed smooth play against Madison's zone defense promised to be an opening wedge for Venice, but field goals by Ron Jones, Edwin Garrett, and Curtis Bradley gave Madison a 55-48 advantage.

Again Venice cut into the margin when Turner made back-to-back field goals, but a foul with 4:46 remaining sent Trojan Dan Bankhead to the free throw line to sink both ends of a one-and-one.

In "never say die" fashion, Venice later battled back to within one point, 62-61, with slightly over a minute left to play. But Madison, determined to win at front to the end, got breathing room on a basket by Ron Jones and two charity shots by Bankhead. With 30 seconds remaining, Venice called a time out.

"We had planned to sit on the bench if we had the lead with less than two minutes to play," said MHS Coach Graham, "but Venice's pressure defense and its offensive striking power kept us in their fighting."

Venice inbounded the ball, but 25 precious seconds clicked off the clock before Ron Salmund could make it 66-63 with a basket.

As the seconds continued to run out, Madison fans came to their feet, sensing victory. They began chanting, "We're number one," across the court at Venice spectators, who still had expressions of hope on their faces.

Madison went up by five points when Randall Jones took a mid-court pass from Gulash and scored a field goal. The latter, following a missed Venice shot, added to the margin with two charity tosses.

Amid cheering and shouting, Bankhead, a transfer student from California, exclaimed, "I don't want to hear anything more about Venice. We won fair and square."

"Our past performance in regional competition definitely had a lasting psychological effect on the team," said Coach Graham. "But we had a good long pep talk before the game which I feel really fired up the players."

"And our player depth sure gave us an advantage. After all, most of the fellows in reserve are from a junior varsity squad that had a 15-1 season."

Madison shot over 50 per cent from the field, 27 of 50, and hit 10 of 20 charity tosses.

Venice shot only 39 per cent, 25 of 64, after controlling the boards 37-29. Arnold had 11 rebounds for Venice and Rodney Davis scored for Madison. At the final time, the Red Devils sank 13 of 20 tosses.

Trojans to meet Lebanon in sectional tourney Wednesday

Impressive Madison High School has a 25-2 record, including 17 straight wins and a Class A regional title victory over Venice, going into sectional competition at Vandavia this week.

The Vandavia tournament opens tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. with Kimnuddy High, 25-1 season record, playing Nokomis, 22-4.

Madison meets Lebanon, 24-3, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Winners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Vandavia to decide the sectional champ.

The Vandavia tournament will enter super-sectional action at Charleston March 9.

The super-sectional victory will advance to best state Class A finals March 12-13 at the University of Illinois Assembly Hall, Champaign. Eight schools of 750 or less enrollment will be represented in the two-day meet at Champaign.

Coach Larry Graham's Trojans have met Lebanon's Greyhounds during regular season competition, Madison emerging an 83-71 victor.

But when the teams meet at Vandavia, Lebanon will have 16 straight victories to its credit, almost matching Madison's 17 in a row.

Madison High School has received 1,200 tickets for Wednesday's contest, and they may be bought at the school's main office at a cost of $2 for adults and $1.50 for students.

On Wednesday, Roxana and North will play at 7:30 p.m. The championship game will be held Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Team records going into the regional are Edwardsville 13-12, Wood River 12-9, Roxana 12-14 and North 12-11.

Regional winners from North, East St. Louis, Alton and Bellevue will meet in the Collinsville sectional March 9-10-12.

North trailed 7-6 at Hillsboro but then outscored the hosts 29-15 in the second quarter, making 11 of 19 shots from the field for a 55-32 halftime lead.

Tom Schocker paced the second-period scoring with 13 points.

The Steelers led 47-39 before making seven baskets and 16 charity tosses in the final period.

North outshot Hillsboro from the floor, 24-18, and at the free throw line, 29-21. The hosts fouled 29 times and in 24.

North had the fewest turnovers, 14-17, and controlled the boards, 37-21, led by Rick Spurlock's 24 points.

Schocker scored 24 points, Jerry Barnett 18, Spurlock 15, Rodney Wortham nine, Larry Schleicher four, Tim Luehman three and Brian Smith and Chris Page, two each.

Schocker heads the Steelers' season scoring with 348 points, followed by Spurlock's 287, Wortham's 242 and Schleicher's 218.

Against regional entries here, North has lost to Wood River 61-58 and has defeated Edwardsville 69-67 and Roxana 76-74.

Fourteen Downstate pharmacies were suspended Friday from the Medicaid program because of allegedly fraudulent billing practices. Results of an investigation are being forwarded to law enforcement agencies. Names were withheld by the Illinois Public Aid Department.

Gov. Walker's chief political adviser, Victor de Graaf, is leaving his post to be replaced by a deputy to the governor, has used state airplanes 13 times for Chicago-Springfield trips since he left the state payroll Nov. 30. Some flight documents were altered in an apparent effort to hide his presence.

A tribute to black music in America will be presented by the National Theater Company in its stage production, "Feelin' Good," Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The program is sponsored by the Cultural Arts Council of SIUE.

Wheans 4th, 5th in state

Chicago Heights (Bloom) matmen earned 44½ points during the weekend to 38 by Oak Lawn (Richards) to capture the championship of the state wrestling meet at Champaign.

GCHS North, with two representatives, placed 23rd with 16½ points. GCHS South, with one matman, failed to score points.

The 98-pound sectional champion, Kris Whean, a North sophomore, finished the 1975-76 season with a 35-4 record and a fourth-place finish at state.

He defeated Thomas Long of Chicago Morgan Park on a 11-2 decision and then outpointed Fred Mariani of Bloomington 6-2 before boxing 12-5 in overtime to Andrew Powell of Summit Argo. The latter bout was tied 5-5 at the end of regulation time.

Kris Whean then lost the third-place bout 5-1 to Bob Porter of Skokie Niles West.

Sectional runnerup at 105, concluded his junior year for North with a 37-2 record and fifth place at state. He had earned a sixth-place finish at state last year.

Keith Whean lost 4-1 to Jerry Kelly of Oak Lawn Friday in first-round action. He then swept two wrestle-back bouts, 7-5 over Bob Alaniz of East Moline and 12-0 Day Harrison of Chicago Tilden. To meet Boyd Breeding of Bellevue East in a fifth-place match that Whean won 6-0.

The latter bout marked the third time this season that Whean has defeated Breeding.

He bested Breeding in the sectional championship bout.

Warrior Steve Avedisian, 155-pound St. Louis senior sectional champion, was eliminated in a further competition in losing 7-1 Friday to Paul Jankowski of Rich East.

Rock Falls High was third at the state meet with 35 points and Libertyville fourth with 33½.

Bellevue West, paced by 119-pound state champion Tom Janick, was fifth with 31 points.

Gina Graham fifth in region

Gina Graham, 10, sinking 10 out of 25 free throws, finished fifth in the Midwest regional Elks "hoop shoot" held Saturday in Iowa City, Ia.

Miss Graham, who took state honors at Champaign earlier last month to qualify for the regional, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Graham, 3138 Myrtle Ave.

She scored 24 points, Jerry Barnett 18, Spurlock 15, Rodney Wortham nine, Larry Schleicher four, Tim Luehman three and Brian Smith and Chris Page, two each.

Schocker heads the Steelers' season scoring with 348 points, followed by Spurlock's 287, Wortham's 242 and Schleicher's 218.

Against regional entries here, North has lost to Wood River 61-58 and has defeated Edwardsville 69-67 and Roxana 76-74.

News notes

The two Democratic candidates for governor addressed the League of Women Voters of Illinois at Springfield Saturday.

Gov. Dan Walker said he had "nothing to apologize for" in accepting $55,000 in the 1972 campaign from the Cook County Democratic Organization and added, "Nobody who contributes to me buys me."

Secretary of State Edward Healey said $100,000 yearly pay for him by Sun Steel Co. from 1960 to 1975 was for his advice on labor relations and other matters.

Local schools prominent in state tourney history

By JIM FLYNN

Assistant Executive Secretary Illinois High School Association

It's called "March madness." It may be the most contagious ailment in Illinois since the common cold.

It strikes everywhere — from Chicago to Cairo, from Galena to Paris — some time during the third month of the year.

It is accompanied by tears — of joy and sorrow and a distinct increase in the heart-beat. It is not fatal. Yet, everyone who catches it is infected for life.

Since 1908, when Peoria High School beat Rock Island, 48-29, at the Oak Park YMCA gym in the first state basketball tournament, Illinois, in the venerable of the times, is "up for grabs" until a new state champion is decided.

The late Lewis Omer, then athletic director at Oak Park High School, originated the idea of the state tournament. Thirteen teams were invited.

The next year, following Omer's suggestion, the Illinois High School Athletic Association took over the venture. It has emerged as one of the most widely publicized and competitive state prep tournament series in the nation.

The 1969 tournament was held in the Bloomington YMCA gym. Two years later, Bradley University was the site for the state tournament, and Peoria High School beat Mt. Carroll 60-15 for the championship.

Rockford's 60-point effort was destined to be a title to be remembered for the next 34 years.

For several years the tournament was alternated between Bradley and Millikin University in Decatur.

In 1918, Springfield High School's gym was the site of the tournament — the only time it has been held in a high school facility — and the famed Arthur L. Trout guided his "Trotters" to a 61 victory over the Orphans to be the first of three titles they would win under his leadership.

At the time, Sports Editor Fred "Brick" Young of the Bloomington Pantagraph officiated in his first of a record 15 consecutive state tournaments.

Finally, in 1919, the state tournament found a home in Champaign on the campus of the University of Illinois. The first seven tournaments played on the home court of the "Fighting Illini" were in the old Gym Annex.

When Huff Gym was opened in 1926, the emotional appeal — as well as the demand for tickets — of the tournament mushroomed.

Since 1963, the university's concrete "flying saucer" — the magnificent Assembly Hall, with a seating capacity of 16,128 — has been the site of the state meet.

Changes in playing format of the tournament have generally spawned increased fan interest and availability of tickets since the first "sweet sixteen" in 1926.

In 1936, the series of competition was established to include tournament play at the district, regional, sectional,

"sweet sixteen" level.

In 1941, a one-year experiment with a four-team state final was conducted.

Next significant change came in 1955, when the present system of eight super-sectional encounters produced an "elite eight" set of finalists who advanced to Champaign for the state-wide televised state tournament.

The two-class system was initiated in 1972 with state record-streak shattering Dalton (Thornridge) taking the Class AA (for schools with enrollments of 750 or more) title and Lawrenceville claiming the Class A (for schools with enrollments of 750 or less) trophy. The prizes are among the most highly-sought school trophies in the nation.

Members of the first "sweet sixteen" field included champion Quincy, runner-up Thornton (Harvey), third-place Equality, fourth-place Moline, Champaign, Urbana, Streator, Peoria, Springfield, Lawrenceville, Marion, Freeport, Charleston, Centralia (Marshall) and Chicago (Lane Tech).

The 16-team field for the last single-class competition included: champion Thornridge, runner-up Oak Lawn, third-place Danville, fourth-place Springfield (Lanphier), Benton, Rockford (Boylan), Quincy (Catholic Boys), Granite City, Chicago (Hartan), Kewanee, Elgin (Larkin), Nashville, Winnetka (New Trier East), Paris, Normal (University High) and Peoria (Woodward).

First state champion crowned in Champaign was Rockford, coached by Frank Winters. The team bounced Springfield, 39-20.

Initial champion in Huff Gym was Coach Glenn Hines' Freeport Pretzels, who edged Canton 24-13.

First champion in the Assembly Hall was Chicago Carver. Coached Larry Hawkins' Challengers, who took second the year before, beat Centralia 53-32 on a fantastic shot from the corner at the horn by tiny guard Anthony Smedley.

Only district champion to win the title, after smaller schools were placed into district competition in 1958, was the famous 1952 Hedron team, that boasted the tall and talented Judson twins, Phil and Paul, along with 6'7" center Bill Schulz.

Hebron, a school with an enrollment of only 99, outscored Quincy by a 61 margin in overtime to take the championship, 64-59.

Other district teams to reach the final game were Bradwood in 1938 and the gigantic Cobden Appleknockers of 1964. Cobden, with a lineup that included the 6'9" Neal brothers (Chuck and Jim) and the equally big Smith cousins (Ken and Jim), lost to the Dave Golden-led Pekin Chinks, 50-45.

One of the greatest games ever in state tournament history was the 1945 quarter-final match between Decatur and Galesburg. The Runnin' Red finally captured a 73-72 overtime victory, but only after the score was tied or the lead changed hand an incredible 33 — count 'em — 33 times.

One of the most devastating performances by a team in a single game was by Thorntonridge's 35-point (104-69) victory over Quincy in the first Class AA title game in 1972.

This victory for the Boyd Batts-Quinn Buckner spearheaded Falcons was No. 54 in the school's 58-game state record winning streak.

Among the most memorable individual performances were those by champion Granite City's Andy Phillips in 1940; Dwight "Dile" Edlemane's, single-handed victory for Centralia in 1942; and Max Hooper's incredible total of 54 points in back-to-back title games to give Mt. Vernon the 1948 and '50 championships.

Also, George Wilson's smooth as silk play at the center of Chicago Marshall in 1958, and again in 1960; Collinsville's Bob Redman in the Kankakee 32-0 season that concluded with an 84-50 win over Thornton (Harvey) in 1961; and the all-time tournament scoring performance of 6-9 David Robisch of Springfield in 1967.

In 1971, Lawrenceville became the first school since the origination of the two class system to claim a second title in Class A competition. Coach Ron Felling's Indians, led by forward Rick Leighty, fought off

Evangel College band concert

The Evangel College Concert Band will appear in a sacred concert at First Assembly of God Church, 24th Street and Grand Avenue at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, March 7, the Rev. C. Dale Edwards, pastor, has announced.

The Concert Band is currently on its annual spring tour and will be heard in concerts throughout Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, New York, and Missouri. These college musicians have traveled extensively to share their faith in Christ through instrumental music, Rev. Edwards said.

Invitations have recently been received for the band to tour into Mexico this summer and to the World Pentecostal Conference in London in the fall. Five years ago the band presented sacred concerts in 15 major cities of Western Europe.

Director of the 32-piece Concert Band is John S. Shows, assistant professor of music at Evangel. Shows, a doctoral candidate at the University of Miami, Fla., is in his tenth year as a member of the college's music faculty.

Also touring with the band as the lead manager will be Dr. William Menzies, professor of Biblical Studies and chairman of the Department of Biblical Studies and Philosophy. Dr. Menzies received his Doctor of Philosophy degree in church history from the University of Iowa. He is author of the book, "Anointed to Serve, a history of the Assemblies of God denomination."

The band's program will offer varied music and some unusual features. Many of the bandmen will assume singing roles in vocal solos and ensembles. Some of the vocal numbers to be included are "Looking Through His Eyes," by Marsh, "If You Know the Lord," by Shepard, and "A New Name," by Helwig. Another feature will be brass choir arrangements of "Fill My Cup, Lord" and "How Great Thou Art" by Cornow.

Among the selections to be included in the band's program will be "Colossus of Columbia" by Alexander, "A Spiritual Festival" by Adee, "America the Beautiful" by Dragon, "The Holy City," by Jacoby and "How Firm a Foundation," by Carmichael.

Completes basic Navy training

Navy Seaman Recruit Judith M. Carroll, daughter of Robert L. Carroll, 2534 Spaulding Ave., has graduated from basic training at the Naval Training Center, Orlando, Fla. Classes included instruction in seamanship, military regulations, firefighting, close order drill, first aid and Navy history.

THE SPIRIT OF 1776 is displayed by Nameoki Elementary School children at a Bicentennial program given for parents and the school's PTA in February. Third graders are shown singing "Johnny Freedom," which refers to the lives of many of America's heroes. Sixteen skits were performed by the school's students during the program, which detailed the nation's history.

VIRGINIA REEL by fifth and sixth grade students at the Nameoki School Bicentennial review last month. The students shown sang "Skip to My Lou" and then performed the dance. The program, which detailed America's history, was well attended by Parent-Teacher Association members.

Travelers Abroad elects, hears experience in Central America

Roy Lynn was elected president of Travelers Abroad at its meeting last week. Also named club executives were: Ruth Huxel, secretary; Annellen Smith, treasurer; Edmund Firner, program chairman; Juliette Hatcher and Gladys Page, arrangement committee co-chairmen.

In other business, Martha Meier and Mary Reed were elected as new members, and the club's annual outing at the home of Col. and Mrs. Charles Schweitzer was discussed.

The program was presented by Mrs. Della Aulbaugh, who gave an illustrated lecture on Central America.

Her display of woodcarvings, dolls, textiles and garments revealed the coming of the ancient Indians, whose descendants are still the dominant race in the area.

Although the natives are Roman Catholic and maintain magnificent churches, Mrs. Aulbaugh explained that the old pagan gods are not yet "dead," the religion is a mixture of Christianity and pagan superstition, she said. Despite the mountains, most people are engaged in agriculture, with coffee as the main export.

As coffee beans do not all ripen at the same time, not even on the same twig, they must all be handpicked, the speaker said. The pickers' baskets are emptied into a brightly decorated cart, drawn by stolid oxen, and are hauled into the warehouse.

In Guatemala, at Chichicastenango's market, vast crowds fill the plaza to sell their handicrafts, fruits, vegetables. At Tikal Mrs. Aulbaugh saw a ceremonial parade which depicted the coming of the Spaniards in the 16th century.

The role of the Spanish conquerors was taken by natives whose costumes bore only slight resemblance to the conquistadores, but whose enthusiasm was sufficient to make the pagan quite impressive. The beautiful countryside, the picturesque natives and the vivid flowers are great tourist attractions, but there are also the vast monuments of the ancient Mayan civilization, remains of the old, pre-Columbian glory, which have withstood the ravages of Spaniards and earthquakes. Mrs. Aulbaugh said. She explained the three distinct periods of Mayan civilization and noted that although the Carnegie Institute has unearthed some magnificent buildings, there are still many treasure sites which remain untouched. At Panama Mrs. Aulbaugh viewed the engineering miracle of the "big ditch," the shrimp boats, and the Cuna Indians who fled from the isthmus to escape the Spaniards and settled in the San Blas Archipelago in the 16th century.

Sacred Heart cagers honored

Cheerleaders and Pep Club officers of Sacred Heart Parochial School honored members of the school's eighth grade basketball team at a party during the past week.

The event was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Guenther, 2935 Indiana Ave. The hosts were assisted in chaperoning the group by Mrs. Anne Chanda.

Each of the basketball players was presented a trophy by the girls. Team members, in turn, gave roses to the cheerleaders and carnations to Pep Club officers.

Games were played and refreshments, including cake, ice cream and punch, were served.

Cagers honored were Rich Werth, Bob Chanda, Bob Lickenbrock, Ron Mang, Frank Diak, Phil Smith, Pat McGowan, Joe Koch and Greg Mucha.

Cheerleaders present were Diane Guenther, Loretta Heagy, Laura Gabriel, Rhonda Ramirez, Dana York, Sandra Pashea and Karin Koch.

Officers of the Pep Club attending were Joan Hauptman, Patty Galbreath, Liz Gail, Lynn De Gonia and Sandra Zabawa.

participated are shown here performing "Getting to Know You," during the finale of the program. Seven skits performed by the various third-grade classes celebrated the history of America with narrations, songs and dances.

Mitchell third graders perform

The third grade students at Mitchell School presented a pageant "America in Song" Tuesday evening.

It featured 72 students in costumes singing songs from 1776 to 1976. Narrators described the history of the songs, and two dances were featured along with a minstrel number.

The periods in American history presented were: the Revolutionary Era, expanding frontiers, the Civil War years, settlers and workers, the American musical, wars and depression, musical entertainment of the '50's, and today. The dances were the Minuet and the Virginia Reel. Mrs. Beverlee Williams, vocal music teacher, and Mrs. Jane Allsup, third grade teacher were co-directors of the pageant. Other teachers assisting in the production were Mrs. Barbara Landis, Miss Patricia Kibikas, and Mr. Bruce Martin. In charge of costumes was Mrs. Phyllis Gorrell and Mrs. Karen Hutchings.

Soloists were: Cathy Hutchings, Cindy Allen, Wendy Robertson, David Moore, Debby Murphy, Sheila Gergen, Laura Spillers, Bryce Moore, and Susan Page. Other solo performances were by Bryce Moore and Jason Durrett. Tone blocks were played by Melissa Dickie and Stacey Thomason.

The pageant replaced the regular PTA meeting and program for February. Mrs. Laurabeth Wittkamp presented a short talk on Founders Month, honoring the founding of the PTA, celebrated each February.

GUNS ARE STOLEN Three guns and an assortment of ammunition were stolen from the home of Terry Kofahl, Rural Route Two, Box 794ff, Granite City, it was reported last week. The total value was estimated at more than $1,000. A window was broken to gain entry.

Change farm policy at correctional centers

For reasons of efficiency and economy, the Illinois Department of Corrections has decided to initiate a major change in its farming operations, effective with this crop year, Allyn R. Sielaff, director, announced last week.

No later than March 15, he said, the agency will advertise for lease, on a crop-share basis, a total of 4,728 acres of farmland at the Menard, Vandalia, Vienna, Pontiac, Sheridan, Dwight and Stateville Correctional Centers, and at the Illinois Youth Center—Geneva.

Under terms of the contracts the agency will be signing with individual farm operators, the department will receive 40 per cent of the crops planted on these lands, while the leaseholder will be entitled to the remaining 60 per cent.

Although no crops will be planted by the department on its farms after March 15, Sielaff said the agency will maintain beef and swine herds at the Menard and Vandalia Correctional Centers for production of meat for consumption at the agency's various institutions. A 120-cow dairy herd also will be maintained at Vandalia.

There are "a number of reasons for this changeover," Sielaff said, "the principal one being economics. Farming in Illinois today is big business, but the high cost of farm machinery, fertilizer and seed makes it uneconomical for the department to conduct this type of operation. Today's farmer must operate with a skilled staff, knowledgeable in all the ways of getting the highest production from his acreage. Since most offenders incarcerated in the agency's institutions and facilities are from urban areas, we do not have the number of skilled individuals needed to conduct an efficient and productive farming operation. In addition, few, if any, of our offenders plan to make agriculture their life's work, once they are paroled."

Sielaff said the agency's farming staff will be reduced by 18, but all of those individuals will be offered other positions with the department.

Charters issued

The state of Illinois has issued a corporation charter to two Granite City firms, Classic Auto Body and Kustom Shop Inc., 4232 Highway 162, and King-Hoffman Realty Co., 2361 Madison Ave., Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett, announced.

Classic Auto Body is "to provide automotive services," according to the charter. Bernard A. Bargiel is charterter. One hundred shares of common non-par value stock are listed. Correspondent is Jerdine Bookkeeping Service, 305 North Morrison, Collinsville.

King-Hoffman Realty Co., chartered by Carl W. Hoffman and Estel Fred King, is "to act as an insurance agency and brokerage business," according to the charter, which lists 1,000 shares of common non-par value stock. Irvin C. Slate Jr., attorney, 2037 State St., is correspondent.

CAR LOOTED

A 1970 auto belonging to Dan Rill, 2638 Cayuga St., was entered by punching a lock out of the trunk lid, it was reported here last week. Removed from the trunk were a spare tire and wheel, and a grey tool box containing assorted tools valued at $75.

GC on way to becoming 'cleanest' steel city in U.S., council told

A hope that Granite City now may become "the cleanest steel community in the country" was expressed to the City Council last week by Alderman Frank Greenwald in a report on the involvement of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board in the $17.5 million program by Granite City City Steel to remedy air pollution.

Greenwald, chairman of the council's Air Pollution Committee, told the council that the city should attempt to obtain the use of a $75,000 voluntary contribution that will be paid by Granite City Steel as part of the agreement between the steel firm and the state's Environmental Protection Agency.

As a result, the council instructed City Attorney George Filec to investigate the possibilities of having the fund designated for local use, possibly by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Greenwald noted that as the result of previous air pollution control agreements between the company and the state, a $150,000 voluntary contribution was included, but that the money was designated by the state for the University of Illinois.

The aldermen said the agreement for air pollution control installations at the steel firm's blast furnace plant and at the basic oxygen furnace plant grows out of continuing efforts to reduce air pollution contaminants by the company and by city officials and the local clean air board.

"I think we should all thank the aldermen and the members of the air pollution board for their efforts that led to such a program," Greenwald said. "We can now hope to become the cleanest steel community in the country."

Casner Skubish, an inspector of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board, told the council:

"I think we should all congratulate the mayor, the aldermen and the pollution control board for their efforts that led to this agreement. They all deserve credit along with state and federal EPA officials who also have played a part."

Greenwald presented to the council a letter from Henry Bieniecki, chairman of the local clean air board, commenting on the new Granite City Steel program.

In his letter to Alderman Greenwald, Bieniecki said:

"I am sure I speak for all the members of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board when I say we are greatly encouraged over the broad agreement reached by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency and the Granite City Steel Division of the National Steel Corp. on the improvements to be made in air pollution control here in Granite City."

"As you may remember we had received a verbal report in December from a company spokesman that some modifications on the BOP system were already under construction in accordance with an understanding that mutually resolved litigation between the company and the Granite City board in early 1974. Other elements of that understanding have been included in the agreement between the state and the company."

"The agreement reached by the state agencies and the company in 1970 required no improvements at the BOP facility, whereas its deficiencies were obvious to local residents. Monitoring data and daily inspections by our local staff have documented the need for improvement to meet the air quality standards promulgated by state and federal legislation and to protect health and property of local residents."

"Company engineers have been working diligently in the past two years to satisfactorily resolve some of the technical problems involved in reducing pollutants from the BOP facility as well as the coke ovens. These efforts have undoubtedly contributed to the new agreement."

"Although the proposed modifications and improvements are cause for optimism in the efforts to reduce air pollution, it should be remembered that these changes cannot be engineered and installed overnight. It must be considered too, that newly designed equipment seldom works exactly as intended and that some development and adjusting and learning may be required to obtain satisfactory results."

"Our local board is pleased over the contribution its staff has made in support of the state in negotiating the proposed agreement with the company. As you know, this agreement must now be taken to the state board in Chicago for final approval and it is hoped that some consideration will be given by the body to return the $75,000 'voluntary contribution' to the community in which the air pollution has occurred."

State paving standards blamed for deterioration

Mismanagement in the Walker administration caused "scandalous paving jobs" on the Dan Ryan Expressway, Interstate 55 and other Illinois highways, Michael J. Howlett, secretary of state, said Friday.

Howlett discussed "maladministration in the Department of Transportation" during his March 16 Democratic primary, he called for full investigation of I-55 deterioration before contractors are finally paid. As governor, he said, he would make major changes in Transportation Department operation.

"Newly opened parts of I-55, just south of Lincoln, are deteriorating as quickly and dangerously as the Dan Ryan job a year ago," said Howlett.

The governor's appointment learned nothing from the Ryan repaving fiasco. They persist in wasting millions of tax dollars on cheap, substandard highway construction."

Howlett said the Ryan repaving was begun in June 1974, took six months and cost more than $28 million.

"The governor's director of Transportation confidently predicted the resurfacing would last 10 years," said Howlett. "Two months later, the surface began to peel."

"In June 1975, contractors and state engineers were tearing up and repatching 23,000 square yards of pavement laid only the previous fall."

"A legislative investigating committee alleged substandard materials and poor workmanship caused the Dan Ryan deterioration, Howlett said. The committee report concluded that the Department of Transportation, through "haste, negligence, irresponsibility and confusion, let contractors cut corners and fall below specifications."

Howlett quoted from the committee's report: "The reasons contractors engaged in such practices is that they know that state inspectors fail to apply the kind of rigorous standards which would ensure a quality product."

Howlett said the DOT invests time, manpower and money in job control tests that are routinely ignored because results become available 10 days to four weeks later.

He offered a six-point proposal to manage the state's billion dollar highway program more efficiently:

1. Restructure procedures to achieve timely job quality control and get test reports out on time.

2. Upper-level personnel must emphasize quality as much as job completion.

3. State quality standards must be enforced. Incompetent inspectors and officials must be replaced.

4. Improve communication between state and employee morale within the department.

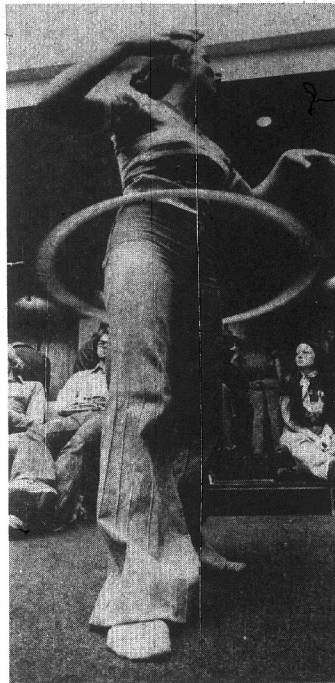

5. Establish more stringent standards for contractors. Penalize those who try to barely meet minimum specifications.

6. Use hired consultants better or stop hiring them.

Howlett said work given consultants on the Ryan project was "mostly menial and not worth the fees paid."

"Mismanagement reforms in the department are crucial. The Dan Ryan fiasco was a terrible waste of tax dollars. But similar fiascos are occurring elsewhere and will continue unless changes are made."

"Illinois cannot afford two more years of mismanagement by the current administration."

HOOP, HOOP, HOORAY! Mary Carr, a freshman at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, set a new world record for hula hooping during Winterfest activities at the university. She kept the circle of plastic moving around her waist for 8½ hours. While she was hooping, someone checked the book of world records for the current record, only to discover there was no entry for hula hooping. A phone call to the publishers brought instructions to the SIUE contest committee on how to verify the record.

Heartland Naturele Beef!!

HEARTLAND NATURELE BEEF is sold exclusively at Schermers Brothers. This beef is the product of young meat type animals raised in the "heartland" of America. It is called "NATURELE" beef because it is raised on natural forage. It is not "force-fed" with vitamins, chemicals, or sophisticated feeds containing so called "supplements." It is tender and lean. Since it was "grown" naturally, as nature intended it, you find a minimum of fat not only in the meat itself (sometimes referred to as "marbling") but on the outside or "cover" as it is referred to, you find just enough fat for cooking purposes.

In addition, HEARTLAND NATURELE BEEF tastes good. You get the real natural beef flavor. Since this beef is raised on natural feed, you don't have to worry about strange tastes caused by unnatural food supplements.

Rites for mother of GC resident

Funeral services were held at 1 p.m. Saturday at a Collinsville funeral home for Mrs. Lela E. Frost, 60, of Collinsville, mother of James Frost of Granite City. Mrs. Frost died Thursday at St. Elizabeth Hospital, Belleville. Other survivors included five brothers and four sisters.

If you're thinking of selling, the people to see are at Royce Realty, 2662 Madison Ave., 876-5050.

Income tax information available at GC library

By JEANETTE KAMPEN
GC Public Library
Adult Services Director
Packets of the latest federal tax information may be checked out at the Granite City Public Library. Each packet includes instructions for preparing form 1040 and short form 1040A as well as publications on record keeping, child care, tax deductions for homeowners, and other topics. Copies of "Your Federal Income Tax," "Tax Guide for Small Business," and "Farmer's Tax Guide" may also be checked out. Persons who would like publications of their own may call the IRS toll free at 800-829-2811, Monday through Friday, from 8:00 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., or may obtain them from any IRS office. The IRS publishes over 50 different free publications on a variety of subjects to help taxpayers with their income tax returns.

The library now subscribes to the "Federal Register," a government publication that makes available to the public regulations and legal notices issued by federal agencies. These include presidential proclamations and executive orders and various kinds of federal agency documents of public interest. The "Federal Register" is published Monday through Friday except on official federal holidays.

The following stories are scheduled for Dial-A-Story (876-5310): March 13, "The Green Goose," adapted from "The Poppy Seed Cakes" by Margery Clark; March 14, "The White Goat," adapted from "The Poppy Seed Cakes" by Margery Clark; March 15, selections from Mother Goose.

New reference books: Film buffs will enjoy "The World Encyclopedia of the Film," edited by John M. Smith and Tim Cavell. In addition to over 2,000 biographical entries on actors and actresses, directors, producers, writers, and others who have worked in the cinema, there is an index of almost 20,000 films with credits and other information.

In "A Guide to the Medicinal Plants of the United States," Arnold and Connie Krochmal describe over 250 wild plants and their medicinal uses and give some historical background on how the plants were once used.

"The Timetables of History" tells the reader what events were taking place at the same time in history in seven categories: history and politics; literature and the theater; religion, philosophy, and learning; visual arts; music; science, technology, and growth; and daily life.

The Diagram Group, a team of 30 editors, writers, and illustrators, has produced two excellent guides to sports and games of the world. "Rules of the Game" describes more than 400 national and international sports from archery to yacht racing.

The rules, techniques, equipment, and scoring for each individual or team sport are clearly explained and colorfully illustrated. "The Way to Play" has a similar format and describes games of all kinds played throughout the world. Included are card games, board games, target games, tile games, dice games, table games, word and picture games, games of chance, and children's games.

Many of the games will be familiar to the American reader; however, some are from foreign countries and ancient times and will be new to most people in the United States.

Howlett trims office budget

Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett said Thursday he will submit a 1976-77 fiscal year budget for his office which will cut almost $7.5 million from the 1975-76 figure.

The secretary of state's proposed budget will be just under $80 million, compared to the current budget of close to $87.5 million, he said. "In addition to our cost-saving budget for next year, our office will spend approximately $10.5 million less during our present fiscal year than we were authorized to spend," Howlett said.

He cited major savings in appropriated money not being spent—$1.5 million in personal services for the office and $4.5 million by using an existing building instead of constructing an authorized new motor vehicle facility in Elgin. All of the authorized money not spent remains in the state treasury.

Bogosity to speak to mathematicians

Carol Bogosity of Granite City, a mathematics teaching assistant at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, will be a speaker at the joint meeting of the Southwestern section of the Illinois Council of Teachers of Mathematics and the Mathematics Club of Greater St. Louis on Saturday, March 13, at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Twenty-two sessions have been scheduled for the elementary, secondary and two-year college mathematics teachers. Registration for the meeting will be held from 8 to 8:45 a.m. in the SIUE Science Building.

Tickets for the luncheon are only available by pre-registering by March 3. Checks or money orders for $5 payable to SIUE may be sent to Nadine L. Verderber, Box 65, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Edwardsville, Illinois 62026.

Debra Jean (Grace) Geggus from David George Geggus, both of Granite City. They were married Sept. 14, 1974, and separated Feb. 7, 1975. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of one child was granted to the mother.

Debra Jean (Grace) Geggus from David George Geggus, both of Granite City. They were married Sept. 14, 1974, and separated Feb. 7, 1975. Mental cruelty was charged. Her former name was restored.

Betty (Williams) Gower from Bernard Francis Gower Jr., both of Venice. They were married July 2, 1968, and separated Aug. 16, 1975. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of two children was granted to the mother.

Delegate hopefuls okayed—except by Bayh, Jackson, Humphrey, Kennedy

John P. Touhy, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, has announced that all candidates for delegate and alternate delegate to the 1976

Democratic national convention are approved by the person they have named as President. The preference except for all those who have listed as their preference Senator Birch Bayh of Indiana, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Senator Henry M. Jackson of Washington or Senator Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts. Sen. Bayh said, "None of the delegate candidates or alternate candidates running committed to my candidacy in the March 16 Illinois primary are authorized to do so."

Sen. Humphrey commented, "Inasmuch as I am not a Presidential candidate I am precluded from claiming or waiving any rights pursuant to Rule 10 (A) of the delegate selection rules for the 1976 Democratic convention and the Illinois delegate selection plan."

Sen. Jackson's campaign manager said, "The senator has asked me to advise you that no one is authorized to use his name in the Illinois delegate selection primary. He further requested that you do not publicize the names of any persons who have filed on his behalf."

Sen. Kennedy said, "While I appreciate the support of those individuals who are candidates for delegate committed to me, I cannot give approval to any of them. I am not a candidate for the Presidency in 1976 and feel compelled to discourage those who may be seeking to promote my candidacy."

Under the provision of Rule 10 (A) and the Illinois delegate selection plan, all other candidates for (delegate and alternate delegate stand approved by their Presidential favor.

The others persons named as Presidential preferences are: Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, Jimmy Carter of Georgia, Fred Weinberger of New York, Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota, Sargent Shriver, Sen. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Morris K. Udall of Arizona, Gov. Daniel Walker of Illinois and Gov. George Wallace of Alabama.

Modify SIUE realignment

President John S. Rendleman of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has proposed a modified realignment plan for administration of the university.

The president said Friday the search for a vice-president for administration is being discontinued, and the position will not be filled.

Business affairs functions will be realigned under the existing positions of director of physical plant, controller and budget director, and vice-president and provost.

Other changes are proposed, and Dr. Rendleman said if the plan is implemented, the university will have reduced four vice-president positions to two; will have cut six assistant vice-president positions to two; and will have eliminated four director positions under the vice-president and provost.

The plan was submitted to members of the SIUE Board of Trustees a week ago, and the president said he will seek board action to implement the proposal at the March meeting at SIUE.

Driver hurt

Mrs. Martha Rochester, 57, of 2828 Madison Ave., was injured when her auto was involved in a three car accident at 27th Street and Madison Avenue last week. The other drivers were Norman Healer, 2224 Dawn Place, and Janet Connor, 2813 Ralph St.

After colliding in the intersection with the other cars, one auto skidded over the curb and struck a bus stop bench. Another car went into the Burger Chef parking lot and damaged bushes around the lot.

Tornado drill here Wednesday

Schools in the Quad-City area will conduct a tornado drill Wednesday at 10 a.m. in conjunction with a statewide tornado practice exercise.

The Civil Defense tornado sirens will sound at 10 a.m. Wednesday, rather than the normal monthly date, which would be tomorrow. In conjunction with the drill, St. Elizabeth Hospital also has rescheduled its monthly disaster drill from Tuesday to 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Civil Defense Director Victor Koenig said the tornado sirens will sound for one full minute, Wednesday and then will stop. During an actual tornado alert, the sirens sound for three full minutes.

The monthly test pattern consists of the siren blowing for one minute, then one minute of silence, followed by the wailing sound used for a nuclear attack alert.

All of the schools in the Quad-City area will observe their regular tornado drill procedure, moving students to areas designated as the safety areas in the schools.

Students will be moved away from outside walls, windows and large rooms with roofs not supported in the middle, such as gymnasiums.

The alerting program will be conducted by the National Weather Forecast Office in Chicago in cooperation with the State Board of Education, school officials, regional and local school superintendents and the Illinois Civil Defense Agency.

13 couples divorced

Thirteen Quad-City area couples have obtained divorces in Madison County Circuit Court. Divorced were:

Debra Kay (Pheps) Adams from Paul Raymond Adams, both of Granite City. They were married May 10, 1974, and separated Feb. 18, 1975. Mental cruelty was charged. Custody of two children was granted to the mother.

Daughters of Isabella plans show

Teresa Patrick was initiated and welcomed into the Daughters of Isabella, Circle 835, at its February meeting last week at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Regent Irma Manning was in charge and announced communion mass for members would be held yesterday at St. Margaret Mary Church.

Accepted for initiation at the March meeting was Mrs. Barbara DeFuntz.

Those celebrating birthdays recently were honored. They include Dorothy Hoedebeck, Vera Carey, Esther Perry, Mary Horvat, Olga Varley, Macie Bertacchi, Joan Stanton, Grace Range, Helen Smith and Mrs. Manning.

Plans were made for a fashion show from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, March 14, in the cafeteria at St. Elizabeth School. All clothing shown and modeled may be tried on by patrons and ordered, it was reported.

Tickets, costing $1.25 each, may be obtained in advance from circle members. Refreshments will be served and a $25 clothing gift will be awarded. Barbara Nowlen of East Alton will commentate the show, assisted by Sharon Peters.

Final details will be made at the March meeting to attend the Daughters of Isabella state convention, set May 21 to May 23, at the Ramada Inn, Fairview Heights, it was announced.

Illinois Regent Lucy Schell has invited Mrs. Manning to serve on the convention's Rules to Govern the Meeting committee, members were advised.

Circle 835 will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Mrs. Antoinette Dolosic will serve as hostess chairman, aided by Florence Byrne, Marian Chizek, Bernice Crimmins, Peggy Crakovich, Helen DeFuntz, Karen Dolosic, Lydia Duggan, Mamie Elmore and Mrs. Carey.

50¢ charge if operator dials calls

The few Granite City area phone users who choose to have an operator place their local calls will pay a 50-cent surcharge for each call, beginning today.

"All operator-assisted calls cost us more to provide than direct dialed calls, so we want to encourage our customers to dial local calls themselves — it will be cheaper for them and for us," Ken Evers, commercial manager in Granite City, said. "We think those people who place local calls through the operator should be charged more, rather than have the added costs borne by all phone users."

Evers said that the 50-cent surcharge for operator-assisted local calls will not apply (1) on calls to Illinois Bell for official telephone business or emergency calls to designated emergency numbers; (2) on calls by disabled persons; (3) on calls placed after repeated busy signals; and (4) on calls where assistance is requested due to telephone equipment problems or service problems on the line.

He also pointed out that during an average month, Illinois Bell operators assist with approximately 170,000 local calls. "So it's important that we try to keep our operators as free as possible to place those calls that customers can't dial themselves," Evers said.

The Illinois Commerce Commission approved the new 50-cent surcharge on Jan. 29, to be effective March 1.

Based on Road & Track magazine's consideration of hundreds of 1975 automobiles:

You're looking at the best car in the world for under $3500.

There are winners in this world. And there are losers. The Volkswagen Rabbit is a winner. After considering hundreds of '75 cars, the experts at Road & Track named it "the best car for under $3500."

Toyota didn't make it. The Datsun didn't make it. Vega, Pinto, Honda, Fiat, did not make it.

Compare the Rabbit on performance. (From 0 to 50, a Datsun B-210 is 60% slower.)

Compare the Rabbit on roominess. (It has the head and leg room of some mid-size cars.)

Compare the Rabbit!

on gas mileage.

39 mpg on the highway, 25 in the city. These are EPA estimates of what the Rabbit with stick shift got in 1976 EPA tests. (The mileage you get can vary, depending on how and where you drive, optional equipment, and the condition of your car.)

No other car will give you the combination of performance, space and economy that you'll find in a Rabbit.

You owe it to yourself to try the best, before you settle for something less.

Proxy shower for former resident

A cradle shower was given by proxy last week for Mrs. Linda Birdsong, formerly of Granite City, who now lives in Denver, Colo.

The party was hosted by Mrs. Rena Birdsong and Mrs. Ruth Schrieber at the Pentecostal Revival Center, 2018 E. 20th St.

The honoree is the wife of Technical Sergeant George M. Birdsong, who currently is stationed in Thailand with the U.S. Air Force. She was represented at the shower by her sister, Mrs. Mary Gilson.

Pink and blue appointments were used on the refreshment table, which had a "bootie" cake, decorated in the same colors, as its centerpiece.

Among the guests were June Richmond, Terry Polach, Evelyn Elkins, Becky Castle, Robbie Castle, Virginia Parker, Irene Bertels, Bessie Poe, Linda Snider, Joyce Longbottom, Vernette Longbottom, Susie Davis, George Grizzard, Nona McAmish, Jeanie Brooks, Melba Anderson, Florence Paul, Mina Duggins, Frances Bogerman, Helen Peterson, Grace Hutchins, Sis O'Guin, Alice Schrieber, Eva Elkins, and Martha Jannie and Judy Schrieber.

Branching could concentrate vast power in a few banks

Branch banking is proposed in each Illinois legislative session, and a statewide pro-branch organization is functioning, raising proponents' hopes of success. Meanwhile, there is extensive activity at the federal level to override state wishes in those states still banning branches.

Convenience and modernization are usually cited as the chief reasons for ending branching constraints, but one wonders if the key reason is the desire of giant banks to swallow up smaller competitors. Certainly, they have awesome financial power that can be devastating when directed against institutions in a particular community or county.

Illinois is a storm center in the trend because of its size. A study on bank concentration shows 47.95 per cent of the nation's total deposits are in five states — New York, California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas.

In New York, where the ten largest banks control 87.7 per cent of all deposits in the state, laws were changed in 1975 to permit statewide branch banking, prompting Congressman Wright Patman of Texas to predict that many community banks soon will be liquidated. His comment: "About the only small business we have left in this country is the small independent bank. The rest of the economy has gone the way of the roses — three companies make our cars, two our cans, one our computers and one our copying machines."

Ten Illinois banks already control 49.7 per cent of all deposits. It seems clear that further concentration of money in fewer and fewer firms would tend to remove financial decision-making from many towns, in some places being replaced by no services at all and in others by bank policies controlled from afar.

Salvation Army community center will be highly useful

A versatile new community center being constructed on East 23rd Street will enable the Salvation Army to expand the scope of its services to both old and young people.

The long-delayed project is now making rapid headway and the facilities are expected to be completed and placed in use by early summer.

Congressional budget balancing role passes first test

Press-Record Washington Bureau Congress, in December, demonstrated its determination to make its budget procedures work by passing the Second Concurrent Resolution, establishing strict spending limits for the current fiscal year.

A few days later, Congress approved a conference bill increasing milk support prices. The milk subsidy funds were not contemplated in the earlier resolution.

President Ford subsequently vetoed the milk price support legislation.

And Congress gave further evidence of its new role as responsible partner in budget-setting when the Senate upheld the veto. Senate members must have been startled on the day of the override vote to receive a letter from Edmund S. Muskie, no ally of the President, urging that Mr. Ford's veto be sustained.

"If we meant what we said in December," the chairman of the Senate's Committee on the Budget wrote, "we must hold the line."

Muskie called the override vote the "first real test" of the Congressional budget process. The Senate passed.

Liberty precious, fragile — requires eternal vigilance

Caught up as we are in a Bicentennial salute to the durability of a nation of free men and free women, there is a temptation to complacency.

The United States, after all, has survived attack from abroad, wrenching divisions from within and dishonor at the highest level of government. The system, we are fond of boasting, has prevailed.

Our pride is an integral part of our heritage. Those first determined settlers, refugees from a tyrannical government, might also have been content with the blessings of the simple freedom they pursued at great personal sacrifice.

They worked as they chose. They guarded jealously their venture into self-regulation. They concerned themselves with the virtues of justice and dignity and respect for their fellows.

But they were also wary. As the Colonies grew and prospered, they were obliged to set down guidelines for their relationships with each other. Government, they acknowledged, was essential, but its powers must be exerted only "with the consent of the governed."

And under the threat of renewed domination from abroad, they drafted carefully the Declaration of Independence whose 200th anniversary gives us cause for celebration this year.

They proclaimed the "self-evident truths" of equality and "certain unalienable rights," not the least of which is the pursuit of happiness.

Only after lengthy deliberation did they subscribe to the Constitution and Bill of Rights that have proved to be the foundation of what we like to call "the American way."

They were careful to allow the flexibility to deal with unforeseen perils — to cope with circumstances that might confuse freedom with license.

The legacy which has served us so well is the grip on the reins assured to the people — a grip we exert not only through massive public opinion.

Vigilance continues to be the price of our liberty. Instant communication allows each American citizen to respond to unsettling events in Angola or Lebanon or Chile that could presage disaster from abroad. It permits us to react to events in Washington that could topple us from within.

This precious freedom we've been handed is a fragile commodity that we must guard with zeal if our posterity is to be given opportunity to celebrate 100 years from now.

3rd party plan by Walker?

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — The possibility that Gov. Dan Walker will be on the November ballot even if he is defeated in the March 16 Democratic primary is being taken seriously in some Illinois political circles.

This prospect is based on two assumptions. 1. That defeat of Walker by Secretary of State Michael J. Howlett is a foregone conclusion.

2. That forming of a new statewide political party is not too difficult under existing Illinois law. However, Walker could not run just by himself as an independent. To get on the ballot he would have to form a new political party and slate candidates for all statewide offices at stake. In addition to lieutenant governor, who would run jointly with the governor nominee, these would include attorney general, secretary of state and comptroller.

Walker already has a slate of candidates running with him in the primary and there is some speculation that these were fielded to simplify the forming of a third party this summer should this prove necessary.

For barring some unforeseen development or "break" of great political significance, few knowledgeable in the political scene anywhere in which Walker can reverse what appears to be a big Howlett edge and retrieve the governor nomination.

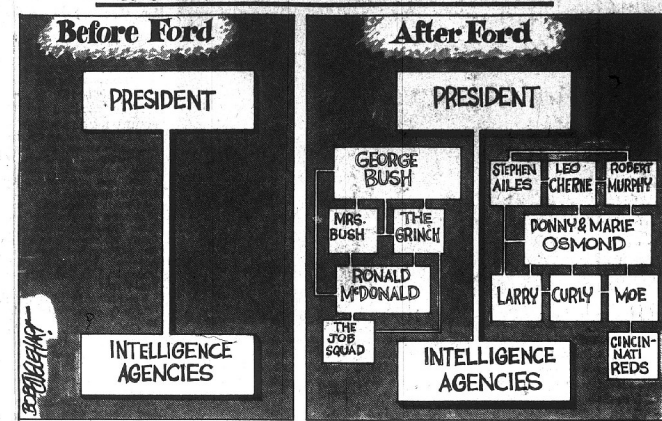

Of course, if he should pull a surprise even greater than his 1972 upset of then Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, the question of a Walker-headed third party would be moot.

But there are some indications that suggest even Walker himself has ruled out this possibility. His own campaign provides a clue.

In another flaunting of political tradition, the governor is not campaigning as a Democrat in a Democratic primary. His appeal is not aimed at the loyal Democrat who votes in every primary, but at the voters in general.

The hard core Democrats, especially those of the recent ward of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's former administration, are regarded as safely tucked in the Howlett fold.

his 1972 upset of then Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, the question of a Walker-headed third party would be moot.

But there are some indications that suggest even Walker himself has ruled out this possibility. His own campaign provides a clue.

In another flaunting of political tradition, the governor is not campaigning as a Democrat in a Democratic primary. His appeal is not aimed at the loyal Democrat who votes in every primary, but at the voters in general.

The hard core Democrats, especially those of the recent ward of Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's former administration, are regarded as safely tucked in the Howlett fold.

Republican voters, unlike 1972, are not expected to cross over in any numbers this time, depriving Walker of a big asset of four years ago.

Furthermore, primary voters of either party are an attempt to give others the deciding voice in fall elections belongs to the great mass of independent voters who shun the primaries.

It is these, as well as tax-conscious Republicans, to whom Walker's campaign message would appear to have the most appeal.

Another sign pointing toward a potential third party would be the lining up of about 170 candidates for delegates to the national Democratic convention pledged to support Walker for president.

Not to be overlooked is the sizable political war chest available to Walker through his own fund-raising organization, the Illinois Democratic Fund. It has been extremely successful and would be expected to be ample to finance a third party effort.

Some questions have been raised as to whether it would be feasible to form a third party in Illinois after the primary. But those who have researched the pertinent laws and the laws themselves seem to confirm that a third party can be formed without much trouble.

State law requires that for a new party to be formed, peditions must be filed bearing the signatures of at least 25,000 qualified voters. No more than 13,000 may be from one county.

The Illinois State Board of Elections has published dates for filing such petitions for the period from July 28 to Aug. 2.

Persons who voted in a primary would not be eligible to sign petitions for a new party.

However, the obtaining of 25,000 signatures from persons who did not vote in either the Republican or Democratic primary should not be difficult. There are more than 5 million registered voters in Illinois and in the 1972 primary only 2,228,666 of these voted.

Lobbying against dam by magazine

(American Waterways Operators)

In connection with its inflammatory and erroneous February article on Locks and Dam 26 at Alton, the Reader's Digest printed a box suggesting that readers wishing to stop the project should write the secretary of Transportation and the chairman of the Senate and House Public Works Committees.

The Digest also offered free reprints of the article in contrast to the magazine's usual policy of charging for reprints. Now, the Reader's Digest has injected itself into the L&D 26 controversy.

In a letter to members of Congress on Reader's Digest lettershead, C. R. Devine, vice president of the magazine, has repeated the oft-refuted statement that reconstruction of Locks and Dam 26 could "lead to the spending of anywhere from $4-to-$10 billion without specific authorization from Congress."

The Reader's Digest vice president's letter goes on to express the hope that members of Congress will consider that "fact" as they prepare to vote on authorization of the project, and concludes by offering members of Congress a complimentary supply of the reprints of the article.

It has frequently been pointed out and is well-known on Capitol Hill that authorization of the L&D 26 project will be subject to full Congressional scrutiny.

Ironically, in the same issue of the magazine Judge Russell E. Train, administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, deplored inflated charges and countercharges of paranoia and suspicion — and the tendency by too many to treat every difference of viewpoint in terms of "good guys" and "bad guys."

Would that the magazine heed the words of this distinguished American whom it also permitted the use of its pages.

Informed consent precedes surgery

To the Editor:

It is unfortunate that some of the opponents of abortion must sink to the use of emotional appeal and deception, if not imaginary, statistics in an attempt to give others the impression that abortion is dangerous to the future health and even the very life of a woman.

A recent anti-abortion article and a reader's letter cited statistics that were grossly misstated if not fabricated.

A survey of recent professional nursing literature and medical literature clearly shows the words of this distinguished American whom it also permitted the use of its pages.

Burris, Bakalis Democratic rivals for Illinois comptroller

Roland W. Burris, Illinois General Services Department director, is a candidate for the office of state comptroller in the Democratic primary.

"I am running for statewide office because I have become increasingly aware that most of the economic problems we live with today—inflation, recession, unemployment—have all been largely caused by government," he comments.

"It is time for government, both in Washington and Springfield, to face up to its responsibilities."

"We, as individuals and taxpayers, have made sacrifices these last few years. Millions of people have postponed that American dream of owning a little house on a plot of land. Many more have trouble putting a decent meal on the table each night."

"And yet, while families struggle to make ends meet, government has prospered as never before."

"In Illinois, our state budget has more than doubled in the last five years. One reason for that is that we have been trying to spend our way out of every economic and social problem. Clearly, that approach has not worked."

"The budget process in this state has been reduced to a struggle between the executive and legislative branches over how to spend all of the available revenues."

"The problem is that this process depends on the total amount of money the state expects to take in. It does not focus on the value to the public of the programs we're buying with our tax dollars."

"We cannot afford to operate that way in this state any longer. It's time now for government to bite the bullet. That leads me to the office of state comptroller."

"The comptroller is the chief fiscal officer of the state of Illinois. I believe that officer has the duty and the responsibility to challenge wasteful programs and uncontrolled growth in state expenditures."

"If the comptroller is to be fully responsive to the people of Illinois, he must be much more than an efficient accountant," Burris said.

"He must do more than keep the books in good order. He must do more than affix his signature to state checks and vouchers."

"The comptroller must be the fiscal watchdog for the people of this state. And that is the role I will undertake."

"I believe my record as director of the Department of General Services amply illustrates my commitment to the protection of the public pocketbook. And I believe that my experience as a director and cabinet member, as banker and a lawyer clearly qualifies me to be state comptroller."

"One thing I feel I must clarify. Some might be wondering how the governor relates to my campaign. I am a member of his Cabinet, and I believe we share a high regard for each other."

"But Gov. Walker did not ask me to run for this or any other office. I can only tell you that he wished me good luck when I told him of my plans."

Roland W. Burris was named director of the department in January 1973.

Burris sees to the management of the state's 80,000 telephones, 9,000 cars and trucks, most state buildings, 30 auto repair garages and 56 state stations and the control of over $2 billion worth of state personal property.

"Bringing his background in finance and management to government, Burris believes he has saved Illinois residents millions of dollars through the use of innovative programs and modern business practices."

Many of the printing shops maintained by individual agencies have been consolidated at a savings of $385,000 annually.

The institution of a centralized Mail and Messenger Service for state agencies has saved the state $76,000 in its first year of operation, he says.

Last year, Burris initiated a space study of various governmental units to detect underutilized space that resulted in a $100,000 savings.

As the procurement agent for state government, General Services purchases more than $100 million worth of supplies and commodities yearly. With the aid of the state Small Business Purchasing Act, Burris has assisted small businessmen in doing business with the state to a degree unequalled by any other state in the Union.

When he was Continental Illinois Bank's first black vice-president, he was responsible for millions of dollars in loans to minority and other small businessmen. He helped form and later served as president of the Executive Committee of the Chicago Business Opportunity Fair.

A native of Centralia, and a current Chicago resident, Burris, 38, is a graduate of Dr. Michael J. Bakalis, 38, one of the candidates for state comptroller in the March 16 Democratic primary election, attributes present state fiscal problems to "poor management and administration" under Gov. Daniel Walker.

He was elected in 1970 as Illinois superintendent of public instruction, serving a four-year term.

The position was ended by the State Constitution approved by voters in 1970, and the current State Board of Education appoints a superintendent of education. The latter post is held by Dr. Joseph Cronin, who was chosen after Dr. Bakalis withdrew his application.

Before becoming state superintendent, Dr. Bakalis was assistant dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and a professor in the department of History at Northern Illinois University, in DeKalb.

He attended elementary and secondary schools in Chicago and received his bachelor of science degree in education, master of arts and doctorate from Northwestern University.

He had teaching experience at the elementary through university level for 11 years.

As a junior high school teacher, Bakalis was director of Curriculum Conferences and created new team-teaching techniques at Evanston Township High School.

He served on North Central Association accreditation teams to evaluate and set standards for schools.

In 1966 and 1968, he was awarded federal grants to evaluate and set standards for schools.

Education Act institutes special programs to retrain secondary school teachers. Dr. Bakalis organized the first "clinical professor" programs in teacher education for the Department of History and a tutor program for disadvantaged students.

He was vice-chairman of the Illinois Commission on Urban Education.

Southern Illinois University and the Howard University School of Law.

In 1959-60, he did a year of postgraduate study in International Law at the University of Hamburg in Germany.

Burris is a former president of the Chicago South End Jaycees, was listed in "Outstanding Young Men of America for 1969," and was twice selected as one of the ten outstanding young men of Chicago.

DR. MICHAEL BAKALIS

In addition to membership in the Illinois Education Association, American Association of University Professors, American Historical Association and Phi Delta Kappa, he has been active in a number of other professional, civic and fraternal organizations.

During the weekend, he called on Gov. Walker to stop "deceptive television ads relating to education and act to fully fund the school-aid formula for the 1976-77 fiscal year," Dr. Bakalis said.

This could be done through "reorienting of budgetary priorities by cutting excessive bureaucratic fat in code departments and by 'ending the widespread fraud in the state's public aid and welfare systems.'"

He charged that the governor has initiated a misleading political advertising campaign based on half-truths about support of public education.

"The governor," Dr. Bakalis said, "boasts of his increased financial support for education but fails to mention that in two of his years as chief executive, he has not met the obligations of the school aid bill he signed in 1972. And he threatens to do the same for the third consecutive year. He also fails to mention that over 400 Illinois school districts received less money this year than the year before because of his actions."

The Democratic candidate for comptroller said that a "television boast that he has not raised state taxes" can be made only because the governor has "deliberately not assumed the state's responsibility for education and has passed the burden down to every local property taxpayer."

Dr. Bakalis said that, as comptroller, he would take leadership in this area by calling together the "highest caliber of executive expertise from managerial consulting firms, university schools of business and management, and successful private enterprise. This managerial summit conference would take on the task of pulling all of state government in tune with modern management principles."

to continue basic educational programs." He urged the government to meet such obligations in next week's budget message.

"The governor has had little trouble in finding the money to double the state budget in the short span of four years," Dr. Bakalis said. "So, on the basis of his record, we have every reason to believe he can find enough money in his over $10 billion dollar state budget to finally meet his obligations to the school children of Illinois and their taxpaying parents."

He also called for a "massive managerial overhaul" of state government to "bring the bureaucratic structure in line with modern management principles and save the taxpayers millions of dollars."

Dr. Bakalis said the same approach used in streamlining and modernizing the administration of the state education office under his administration should be applied to all of state government.

He said that he was the only constitutional officer in code department head "at that time or since" who was able to reduce his office's administrative budget each year he was in office.

"I left the state office with a smaller administrative budget than when I entered, and this was accomplished even though my responsibilities were placed on that agency by the General Assembly and during a time of rapid inflation."

"Planning, budgeting and control systems were instituted, and managers were put through extensive training sessions. Professional personnel policies were instituted to heighten agency, departmental and individual worker accountability. These same things need to be done throughout state government."

"I would maintain the group as an on-going advisory committee on management practices of state government. If every agency was able to do for only one year what I was able to accomplish in the state office of education, the state would save approximately $10 million to $20 million."

"The way to reverse the ever-increasing state budget is to begin at the closest point—the administration of state government itself."

"Administrative costs of state government have increased each year since 1972-74. That, along with unrestricted program growth, is what is pushing us toward financial disaster."

"The management consulting team could also serve the needs of local government by assisting them in dealing with managerial and administrative problems."

"This would be a unique, important and useful service which could assist local governments in their efforts to increase efficiency at the county, township and municipal levels."

"The day of free, unlimited, unplanned and uncontrolled government spending at every level is over."

"Perhaps we could afford to be less systematic in days of plenty," Dr. Bakalis said, "but these are days of economic scarcity. Government must be the first to respond to these times in a positive and constructive manner in order to make the taxpayers' dollar do more."

If the number of businesses and industry interviewing applicants at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is somewhat indicative of the regional job market, employment opportunities are becoming more plentiful.

During March, the most intensive activity on campus in 15 months is scheduled.

Persons seeking employment must first register with University Placement Services to schedule an appointment with any of the interviewers.

The schedule includes: March 1—New England Life Insurance Co., seeking people in sales and marketing. Boatmen's Bank, applicants with degrees in business, economics and business administration.

March 2—Sunmark Co., production trainees and accountants.

March 4—U.S. Marine Corps, seeking officer candidates.

March 4—The UpJohn Co., personnel in sales and persons having science backgrounds in biology or chemistry. Federal Highway Administration, seeking civil engineers. Applicants must be U.S. citizens. Boise Cascade, accountants.

March 5—Farm Credit Administration, accountants and auditors.

March 8—Illinois Department of Personnel, seeking social service trainees, accountants, programmers, environmental engineers and graduates with backgrounds in life science. Missouri state auditor, accountants to work in Jefferson City.

March 9—Ralston Purina, chemists, engineers and graduates with backgrounds in computer science. General American Life Insurance.

'Daniel Boone' is Bayview topic

Mrs. Carrie Jansen reviewed the book, "Daniel Boone," by John Mason Brown, at Thursday afternoon's meeting of the Bayview Reading Club.

Delray Rebekahs install guardian

Mrs. Daisy Burnett, Rebekah district deputy president, installed Mrs. Lydia Henderson as inside guardian of Delray Rebekah Lodge 786 at a meeting last week at the Odd Fellows Hall in Madison.

Noble Grand Zelma Finch presided and Mrs. Grace Hermann led the pledge of allegiance.

Members chose Mrs. Thelma Stockton as delegate to the state assembly in Springfield. It was announced a ground-breaking ceremony will take place at 11 a.m. March 28 in Mattoon, Ill., site of a proposed Odd Fellows and Rebekah home.

A cake walk was held, with the proceeds assigned to the Rebekah's national education fund.

Refreshments were served to those named and to Pearl Wood, Alma Lassen, Harri Wheeler, Helen Barbeau, Marie Ziegler, Leona Salmon, Erma Graves, Alma Jackson, Ruth Hansen, Edith Carpenter, Olive Roberts, Lucille Vach, Estella McBrian, Ella Pinkerton, Opal Voss, Betty Barnett, Linda Ruts, Verla Wilman, Marge Lewis and Agnes Meng, a guest from the Granite City Lodge.

Delray Lodge will next meet March 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Jolly 12 starts 55th club year

Mrs. Jean Barnes of Edwardsville, formerly of Granite City, entertained the Jolly Twelve Pinch Club Thursday at her home.

The hostess served a luncheon at noon and the remainder of the afternoon was spent at cards.

Holding high scores and receiving prizes were Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Pauline Stephens, Mrs. Mahla Lehne, Mrs. Ardell Lange and Mrs. Kathryn Smithson.

The prize winners and Mrs. Verna Michel, Mrs. Emma Steinberg and Mrs. Penny Ousley were served light refreshments before adjourning.

The Jolly Twelve club presently is in its 55th year of existence. Mrs. Lange, who also resides near Edwardsville, will be hostess at the next party.

Afternoon Circle fetes Mrs. Simpson

Mrs. Edith Simpson was honored on her birthday last week's meeting of the United Presbyterian Women's Afternoon Circle at Nameoki Presbyterian Church.

A 10 o'clock dessert course was served by the hostess, Mrs. Marian Pierson.

Mrs. Louise Anderson, chairman, conducted a short business session, and plans for the March 17 meeting were reviewed.

Mrs. Jane Harmon gave the missionary lesson and the Bible study taken from Mark 16, was presented by Mrs. Joyce Toussaint. The Fellowship of the Least Coin service concluded the program.

Among those present were Mesdames Ruth Todd, Edna Harmon, Marjorie Lydner, Wilma Sellers, Carolyn Steiner, Bonnie Britton and Genevieve McComis.

Briarcliff church women plan potluck

A potluck dinner was planned for later this month by the Ladies in Action group at a meeting last week at Briarcliff Pentecostal Church.

Twelve attended and decided to invite friends who may be interested in joining the club to attend the dinner.

Mrs. Omie Farless gave the opening prayer and presented the devotional topic taken from Timothy 1:4.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Farless to Mesdames Phyllis Allen, Ann Holman, Opal Orrell, Helen Canada, Diana Gaines, Dot Smith, Betty Bonilla, Dorothy Lakin, Mary Miller, Lillian Barton and Chris Senter.

Thursdays club meets with Mrs. Johnson

Mrs. Celeste Johnson, 2537 Iowa St., was hostess to the Thursday Evening Bunco Club last week at her home.

A St. Patrick's Day theme was used by Mrs. Johnson in the table appointments and dessert course.

Those exelling and winning prizes were Mrs. Leona Sanders, Mrs. Angie Hartman, Mrs. Louise Orr and the hostess.

Also present were Mrs. Alice Koesterer, Mrs. Velma Radefeld, Mrs. Myrtle Bruns and Mrs. Luella Flaring.

Coffee and donuts will be served at 9 a.m. with the meeting beginning at 9:30. All women are invited.

Demo rally March 7

All Madison County Democrats are being invited to attend a free public rally Sunday, March 7, at the VFW Hall, 2044 Washington Ave., to give the voters an opportunity to meet the candidates.

Free entertainment and refreshments will be provided. The rally begins at 3 p.m. Sunday.

All Democratic candidates for local and county posts and for state representative from the 56th Legislative District have been invited to attend the event, which is sponsored by the Granite City Democratic Township Precinct Committee.

Plan carnival at Emerson

A carnival featuring booths, games and prizes will be held at Emerson School Friday from 5 p.m. until 8 p.m. The event will be sponsored by the Emerson PTA.

Mrs. Pat Mitchell, general chairman, said that tickets will be sold for 5 cents and 10 cents and that most of the games will be in the 10 cent range.

A new booth will be "The Wheel of Fortune" with a prize for everyone. Other prizes will be given away at other booths. Some booths will include grab bags, fishing, lolly-pop tree, tie tac toe, bean bag toss, and ring the bottles.

There also will be a cake walk, a "wacky hospital," palm readers and a white elephant sale.

Two students, Stephen Mann and Marty Kettlehut, will present a "Magic Show" and will feature four different presentations.

Refreshments will include pizza, coffee and soda on sale in the kitchen area, in addition to snowcones.

Thanks were extended by Mrs. Mitchell to the parents and teachers who are working to make the event happen. The event is open to the general public.

PRAYER GROUP TO MEET AT ST. BARTHOLOMEWS

An introductory meeting of a Prayer and Praise group will be held at St. Bartholomew's Church parish hall, 22nd Street and Grand Avenue on Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Several members of another prayer group will be present to tell how belonging to a prayer group has changed their lives, according to a church spokesman. All interested persons are invited to attend.

AUTO IS STOLEN

The car of Vicki Muenfering, 2714 Harvey Place, was stolen from a parking lot near her apartment, it was reported last week. The car is a blue 1968 Chevrolet Camaro two-door with a black vinyl top.

News notes

The Illinois Commerce Commission refused last week to reconsider its order granting a $70 million rate hike to Illinois Bell Telephone Co., seeking more, the utility filed an appeal the same day.

William Rohrkaste, Madison County assistant jail superintendent, was one of 20 jail personnel in the state attending the Illinois Corrections Department's Correctional Training Academy for a one-week training course last week in Springfield.

The Illinois Education Association last week endorsed Michael Howlett for governor in the Democratic primary. President Woody Lee praised Howlett on "an impeccable record for public service. His record shows that he keeps his promises, a trait that his opponent has yet to develop."

Bill Seebold Jr., former Granite Cityan, has been inducted into the American Power Boat Association's hall of champions.

LOOT LOCKED CAR

The auto of David Milton, 2017 Bryan Ave., was locked and parked when someone broke into it and stole a tape player last week, Milton reported.

Reagan talk in Belleville

First Light attracts crowds here with rock music, frog, fins, fun

By GARY SCHNEIDER

Press-Record Staff Writer

A 230-pound man wearing scuba fins and mask, attired in an extra-large raincoat and carrying a frog on a stick? A six-foot, four-inch, thin bearded man in a basketball uniform taking pot shots with a basketball at customers? A saxophone player wearing a gorilla mask?

These are but a few of the sights which greet lounge customers when First Light gets wound up.

First Light is a group of six area musicians who have been entertaining audiences throughout the Midwest and the South for two and a half years.

Much has changed during that period, as several members have gone on to other groups, but one thing is obvious — the longer they are together, the better they get.

First Light has watched its audiences since 1973 and has kept those routines and songs which audiences enjoy while replacing others with new material.

Although it is an up-to-date rock group, at least one set each night is usually devoted to music of the 1950s and 1960s.

The outright comic antics usually are reserved for Saturday nights, but it takes little encouragement to turn the six musicians to some of their non-costumed comedy routines.

On Saturday nights, audiences can expect anything, and usually get it.

The 230-pounder with the scuba equipment and raincoat carrying a frog on a stick is Jerry Castagnaro of Collinsville, appropriately dressed for "Basketball Jones" in a high falsetto voice.

Marv Docter of Collinsville brags that he is the only saxophone player in this area who can play while wearing a gorilla mask, and few would challenge that statement.

Glen Walker of Collinsville keeps the rhythm going on the drums and adds his voice to a few solos and many harmonies.

Completing the group are Greg "Rocket" Orman of Edwardsville on lead guitar and Bill Smith of Lebanon, the organist.

Some bands have difficulty defining the types of music they play. Not so with First Light — the group plays rock. From the early days of rock music through modern day rock.

"It's not acid rock. It's not rock-a-Billy. It's just rock," Whiteside says.

The band at any given time is offering one of two things — either entertaining or playing music intended just for dancing. When the six start entertaining, most dancing is out.

The basketball player, who may just bounce a basketball off a customer's head if he is not keeping his guard up, is Dave Whiteside of Belleville, bass guitarist and lead singer for the group as he prepares to sing "Basketball Jones" in a high falsetto voice.

But when they are playing music for dancing, all their attention is aimed at getting dancers on the floor and keeping them there.

The choice of emphasis is usually up to the audience. Entertainment and music are the trademarks which have rapidly moved First Light to its

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT BUYING PRESCRIPTIONS

IS QUALITY IDENTICAL?

Yes, the law requires every pharmacist to fill your prescription exactly as prescribed by your doctor. They can not substitute ingredients.

ARE ALL PHARMACISTS QUALIFIED?

Pharmacists are required by law to have a college degree in pharmacy. They must pass rigid state examinations before they are permitted to fill prescriptions.

THEN WHY DO PRICES VARY?

It's the same as any business! Profit policy, overhead costs, delivery service, charge accounts, volume buying, all determine your prescription price.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY ON PRESCRIPTIONS!

Shop and compare before you buy. You have a right to ask a pharmacist to quote his price before you buy. Gasen-SuperRx welcomes comparison ... you'll see, you'll save!
